Bride's 22, groom's 79!

He's old enough to be her great-grandpa, but they're in love!

LOVEBIRDS Jack Wright and his devoted bride Pauline, who is 57 years younger than him.

Crippled retiree Jack Wright, 79, has found a wonderful new love — a devoted wife 57 years younger than he is!

The wrinkled romeo met his bride Pauline, 22, six years ago and waited patiently for her to grow up. Last month he married her in a touching ceremony after Pauline pushed his wheelchair down the aisle.

"I've never given a thought to the age gap," said Pauline whose new hubby is old enough to be her great-grandpa. "Jack's the only man I've ever been out with."

The couple first met in 1983 when Jack, a widower, was recovering from a stroke.

Pauline was a teenage high school student who lived down the street and when she heard Jack was sick, she visited the retired gas station attendant to cheer him up.

"She lived nearby and began popping in to do my shopping," recalled Jack, who lives in Newcastle upon Tyne, England. "She was very kind and tle kiss and cuddle every now and then and pretty soon we found ourselves falling in love."

But the gray-haired groom courted his young love for six years before he made up his mind to ask her to marry him.

"I waited until I felt certain she was sure of me before popping the question," he explained. "And I nearly fell out of my wheelchair with delight when Pauline accepted."

The happy couple are spending their honeymoon at Jack's humble home, an apartment in an old folks' home.

They haven't decided yet whether they'll start a family. Right now they're just enjoy-

OH MY ACHIN' BACK!

New pregnancy suit makes dads feel like moms-to-be

By JOE BERGER

Men can't get pregnant, but now they can discover just what it's like to be great with child — by strapping on a newfangled contraption that makes a fellow feel like he's just minutes away from the delivery room!

The bizarre garment gives a guy all the joyous sensations of expectant motherhood — including backache, shortness of breath, bladder pains and a 35-pound bulge jostling around up front.

"It'll give you just about everything but morning sickness and varicose veins," said prenatal counselor Linda Ware.

"In 15 minutes a man can learn more about what his pregnant wife is going through than he ever could just by talking about it."

The Redmond, Wash., woman invented the "empathy bulge" and formed a company called Birthways Inc. to market it.

The bulge is created by filling the vest's artificial tummy with varying amounts of water to simulate different stages of pregnancy.

Lead balls are stuffed into pockets on the tops and sides of the vest to press in on the rib cage as some babies' elbows and feet do, and a pendulum inside the tummy imitates the feel of a kicking fetus.

A band of cotton and elastic strapped around the chest makes certain the poor fellow inside the vest is constantly short of breath.

"We can create 20 separate symptoms of pregnancy for a prospective father in just a matter of minutes," the device's dedicated inventor told reporters.

"Men who've tried it become more understanding real fast. For some men it opens up a whole new world of feelings."

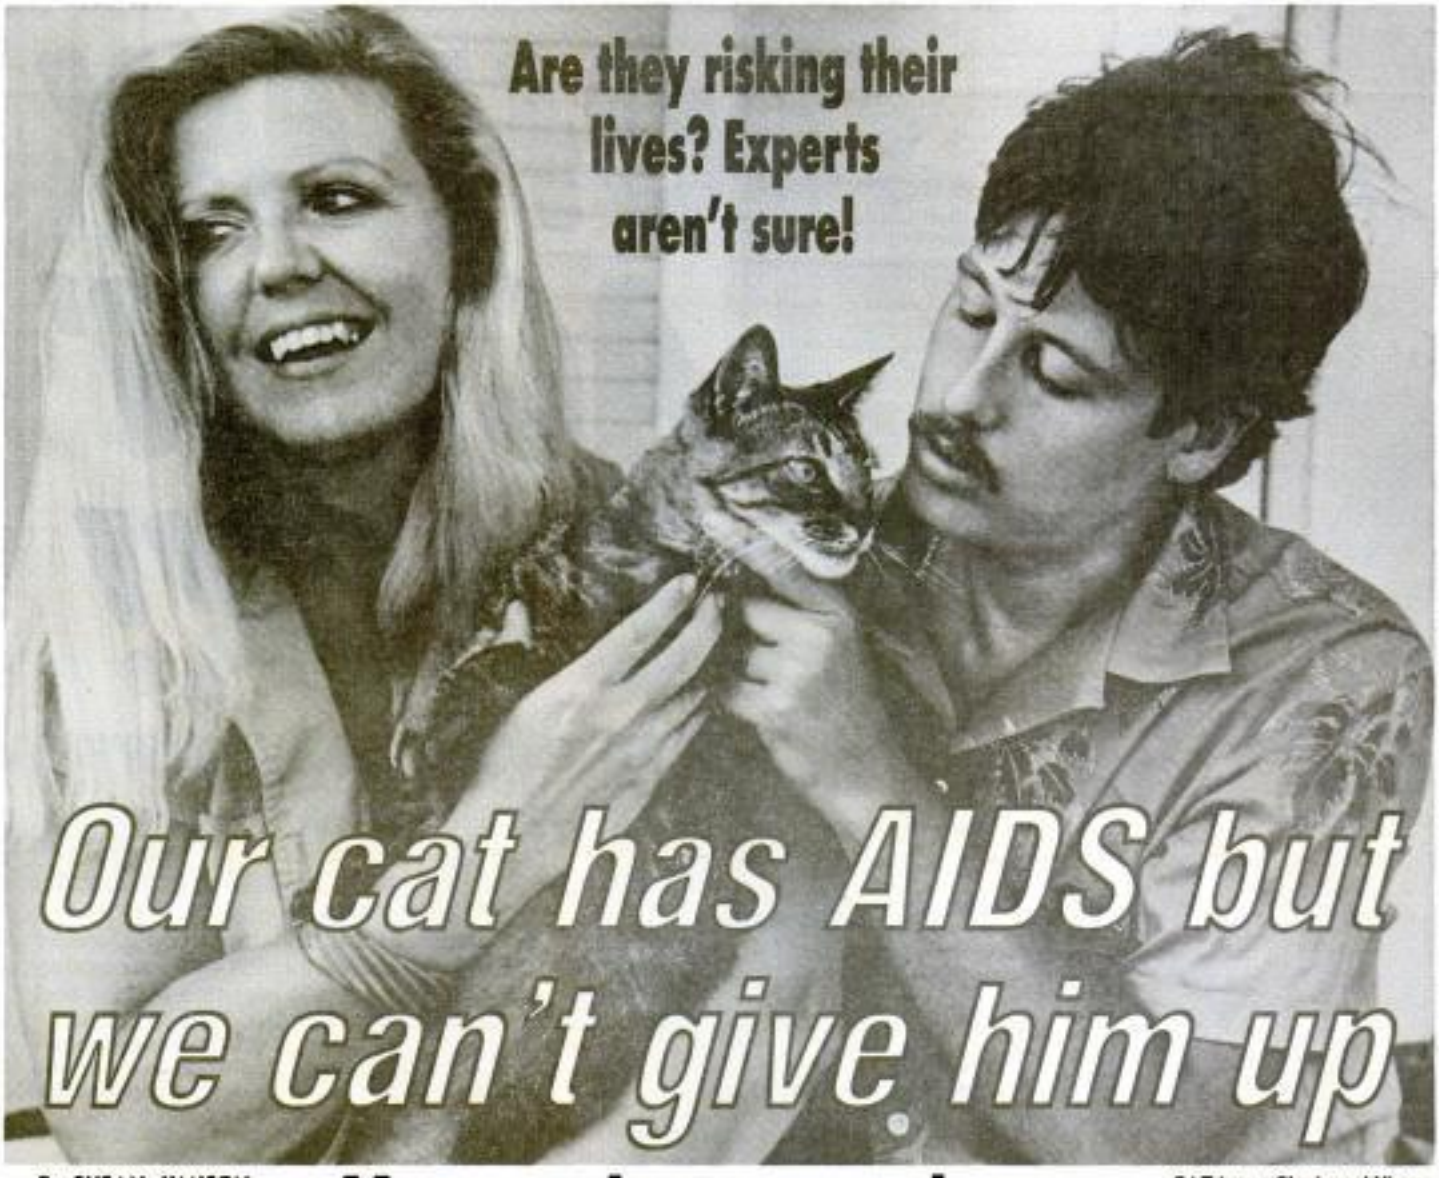
Dirty bumper sticker costs driver a red face and $65

A 22-year-old man was ticketed and hauled into court after a cop spotted a lewd bumper sticker on his car!

To top it off, Deyon Morgan was convicted in Broward County, Fla., and fined $65.

"I've never been in trouble before," said Morgan. "Now I feel stupid."

Officer Mike Scott of the police department in Plantation, Fla., pulled up behind Morgan's 1979 Oldsmobile and spotted a sticker that suggested the driver liked to "find women, have his way with them and forget them." Under Florida's law, it is illegal to display bumper stickers that describe explicit



More and more pet lovers will face this dilemma as disease spreads like wildfire

By SUSAN JIMISON

Vince and Cherie Jackson adopted an adorable stray cat — and found out the male tabby has AIDS!

Now the courageous couple are planning to keep the cat anyway, even though researchers can't guarantee they won't catch the killer disease from their pet.

"We were devastated when we found out," said Vince, who lives in West Palm Beach, Fla. "Pets to us are part of the family. We asked the doctor what we could do and he said, 'nothing.'"

Experts say the feline AIDS virus, which was discovered only two years ago, has already spread through a portion of the cat population and threatens to spread even more widely. It is an extremely contagious disease that spreads like wildfire from cat to cat through cat bites. Already the disease affects more than 30 percent of cats in Europe.

Before long, cat owners across the country may have to decide whether to keep a cat with AIDS — or play it safe and have it put to sleep.

"I think we'll probably see more and more of it," said Dr. Jim Block, president of the South Florida Veterinary Medicine Association.

Symptoms of cat AIDS are similar to those experienced by humans. When a cat contracts the virus, it loses weight and begins to act listless. It may suffer from low fertility and frequent infections, experts say.

"We don't have an estimate on how long they can live after they are infected," said Janet Yamamoto, a viro-immunologist at the University of California at Davis. "We predict they will have a shorter life, but we can't say by how much. The cats in our study aren't old enough yet."

The Jacksons say they plan to treat their tiger cat Max like a king so that he'll live as long as possible in spite of his deadly disease.

"We talk to him and show him a lot of love and affection," the pet owners said.

Boy shoots pregnant 12-year-old girlfriend, cops say

A 14-year-old teen was charged in the shooting death of a pregnant 12-year-old girl, who wanted to have her baby — and not an abortion.

Larhonda Wages was shot in the right cheek at point-blank range during a violent argument with her teenage boyfriend, cops said.

"He said they'd been discussing their relationship, the fact that she was pregnant, the fact that she wanted to have the baby, the fact that he wanted her to have an abortion," said Washington, D.C., Police Detective Joseph Schwartz Jr.

The boy, identified only as A.S., told cops he took a handgun from under a bed and "was playing with it when he put the gun to her head, within several inches of her face, and shot her once.

"The boy said it was an accident . . . that he didn't mean to shoot her," said Detective Schwartz. "As with all cases I've handled like this, he said he was sorry.

"They were just a couple of kids," he said. "They were trying to solve a complex problem that many adults can't handle."

Cops have charged A.S. with second-degree murder and unlawful possession of a handgun and ammunition. If convicted, he could be locked up in a juvenile detention center until he's 21.

City pays $3,000 in truant's suit

The city of Providence, R.I., has agreed to pay $3,000 to a girl who was held five hours by police because she skipped school.

The city didn't admit any liability but paid the money to former student Heather Price to settle her $4,500 lawsuit.

The girl said she suffered "emotional distress" after she was picked up by the police while walking downtown and put in a jail cell for five hours without being charged.

Witches' bizarre plot to bring Hitler back to life!

DEBORAH Kazuck told astonished cops she was Jack the Ripper's mother in a past life.

Women tried to kill human sacrifice — so The Fuhrer could return, say cops

By PETE COOKE

Shocked cops say three women trying to bring Jack the Ripper and Hitler back to life attacked a man with an axe, intending to hack him to pieces and devour his kidneys!

Milwaukee police Lt. Gary Marks said the victim, Jeffrey Meka, 26, suffered a gash to the forehead, but managed to escape from an apartment shared by two of the women.

"He went for the door and had a hard time getting out, but he made it," Lt. Marks said. "He kept running and never looked back."

Arrested were Deborah Kazuck, 26, Catherine Lipsham, 22, and Ramona Barry, 27. Authorities said Miss Kazuck told investigators she was Jack the Ripper's mother in a previous life. Miss Kazuck and her friends thought they could bring Jack the Ripper and Adolf Hitler back to life through human sacrifice, detectives said.

According to Lt. Marks, the modern-day witches spent the past six months roaming the streets of Milwaukee armed with knives, searching for a victim before settling on Jeffrey Meka.

CATHERINE Lipsham

The women met Meka at a park and Miss Barry later called him up, saying she was alone in the apartment she shared with Miss Lipsham and was frightened by a storm. Police said Meka went over to the apartment and watched TV with Miss Barry for a while before excusing himself heard a noise, drew back the shower curtain and discovered Miss Lipsham and Miss Kazuck hiding in the bathtub.

RAMONA Barry

Miss Lipsham was chanting "Redrum," murder spelled backward, as Miss Kazuck swung an axe, striking Meka in the forehead, cops said. The two women tried to grab Meka as he bolted from the apartment.

Outside, a passing ambulance driver spotted Meka running down the street and rushed him to a hospital where he required 50 stitches to close the wound to his head.

Authorities said that before Meka arrived at the apartment the three women had discussed plans to kill him and drain his blood into the bathtub. They also talked about cutting up his corpse and eating his kidneys, police said.

The women were jailed on charges of attempted murder.

Roto Rooter rescues $5G ring!

The Roto Rooter man saved bride-to-be Trish McDonald's wedding!

Seems the San Jose, Calif., woman was cleaning the bathroom when her $5,000 engagement ring slipped off her finger and fell into the toilet in mid-flush.

"I was on the verge of hysterics on the floor," said Miss McDonald. She regained her composure, however, and called Roto Rooter sewer service, which tore up her lawn, opened the sewer line and found the ring so she could wear it at her wedding.

Kiddie book writer wins $755Gs in poker championship

By JACK ALEXANDER

A 24-year-old children's book writer outsmarted 177 other players to become the youngest person ever to win the prestigious World Series of Poker.

He beats out a super card shark for big bucks pot

Poker-faced Phil Hellmuth Jr. whipped two-time series champ Johnny Chan in the last hand at a Las Vegas casino to win $755,000.

"This is absolutely fantastic. I thought I was dreaming for a moment there," said Hellmuth of Madison, Wis. "But when the realization hit me I just threw my arms up in the air and yelled 'Yeah.'"

Hellmuth and Chan, 31, faced each other in the final hand after four grueling days. Hellmuth called the last hand and won with "kings and nines."

"This is the pinnacle of poker," said super happy Hellmuth. "It's what every poker player dreams of winning." He plans to invest his winnings — "very carefully."

Hellmuth, a poet who also writes children's books and novels, received a World Series of Poker gold bracelet to go with the bundle of cash from Binion's Horseshoe Hotel and Casino.

Runnerup Chan was trying to become the first person ever to win the championship three straight years. He won $302,000.

Don Zewin of Niagara Falls, N.Y., finished third and won $151,000, Steve Lott of Victoria, Tex., fourth, $83,050, and Lyle Berman of Minneapolis, fifth, $67,950.

Nephew kills himself after favorite uncle dies in car wreck he caused

By STEVE VERDUN

A 20-year-old man shot and killed himself after his uncle died in a car crash that he caused!

Police in Foster, Australia, confirmed that Sean Mead blew his brains out less than an hour after he lost control of his car and slammed into a tree, killing his uncle, Mark Ryan, 32.

Cops had no motive for the suicide. But people who knew Mead said he loved his uncle like a brother — and would have been miserable living without him.

"It wasn't guilt that made him kill himself, it was love," Ryan's wife Fay told reporters. "There was definitely a strong love between them.

"They were never apart. They did everything together. Sean lived in Mark's shadow and he died in Mark's shadow. For him there was no other way.

"I don't think he could have lived without him."

The tragic drama unfolded when Ryan, who owned a house-moving company, and Mead were driving home after finishing a job in Foster.

Mead, who was behind the wheel, suddenly lost control, veered off the road and hit a tree. Dazed but uninjured, Mead took off on foot to get help for Ryan, who was unconscious and losing blood fast.

By the time Mead got to a phone and summoned an ambulance, Ryan was dead.

"We offered to take Mr. Mead to the hospital for a checkup but he asked us to take him home," Sgt. Wylie Blake of the Foster Police Department told newsmen.

"About 35 minutes later we got a call from one of his neighbors. She said she heard a gunshot at Mr. Mead's house.

"We found his body in the kitchen. He had shot himself in the right temple."

Scott Groom, who worked with Ryan and Mead, said: "It's not going to be easy getting on without them.

"But it's a comfort to know that wherever they are, Mark and Sean are together — just like they were in life."

SEAN Mead, left, couldn't live without his uncle Mark Ryan, right, who died in a car crash while Sean was driving.

Pistol-packin' pensioners rob bank to pay their bills!

GRANNY AND CLYDE

Cops nab 'em when they stop for a red light

By PETE COOKE

A desperate pair of grandparents decided to raise some quick cash by holding up a savings and loan bank — after they fell behind on their mortgage payments!

British authorities said the botched robbery began when Herbert Butler, 65, and his 60-year-old wife, Eleni, shuffled into the London offices of Abbey National and demanded money.

A teller took one look at the couple and said, "Don't be silly." Then she noticed the pistol in Butler's hand and gave him $3,700 while alerting manager Joan Hedges that a robbery was in progress.

Mrs. Hedges set off the security camera, called the police and followed the Butlers as they fled so she could jot down their license plate number.

The couple was arrested moments later as they sat waiting for a red light to change.

"All right, all right, you've caught us," Butler told the arresting officers. "But go easy on the wife because she has a bad heart and a problem with her nerves."

When he and his wife appeared in court to plead guilty Butler said he made several mistakes in planning the heist.

"I told the wife to stay in the car," he said. "But the next thing I knew she was standing next to me holding a toy pistol."

Butler said he neglected to plan a getaway route, drove his own car and committed the robbery early in the morning when the streets were empty.

"There was no one on the road except us and the police," he said. "I knew I was getting too old for this sort of caper," Butler added. "I was praying they wouldn't come after me. I couldn't have run away. I smoke too much and my legs wouldn't have put up with it."

Butler told authorities that he and his wife would have never turned to crime if they hadn't fallen behind on their mortgage payments.

The couple is now awaiting sentencing.

Caught in the act . . .

Desperate Eleni and Herbert Butler are photographed by hidden bank camera just after they robbed a teller. They were caught at a traffic light.

After innocent woman complains about drug dealer next door . . .

Cops raid wrong house

By JACK ALEXANDER

Undercover cops responded to an angry mother's complaints about the next-door drug dealer, but they raided the wrong house — hers.

"They bashed my front door down while I was gone, ransacked the place and left it a shambles," said hopping mad Terri Brown.

"Those fools even ripped open a sealed bag of a friend's cremated ashes I've been waiting to bury," she said. "I hope they thought it was dope and tasted it."

Mrs. Brown, who works as an accountant, and her neighbors in Sacramento, Calif., complained for months about the crack cocaine dealer.

Police sent an informant to buy "crack" at the house and got a search warrant — but it was for the wrong address.

Unfortunately, Mrs. Brown, her son and her mother had just left on a trip to Oakland when police returned to the neighborhood with the warrant.

"My neighbors tried to tell the idiots they had the wrong house, but they wouldn't listen to them," said Mrs. Brown. "They emptied drawers, scattered clothes all over the place and even looked under my mattresses. Naturally, they didn't bother to put anything back.

"My puppy got loose while they were turning the inside of my house upside down," she said. "They looked through my personal and legal papers. A tornado couldn't have done a more thorough job."

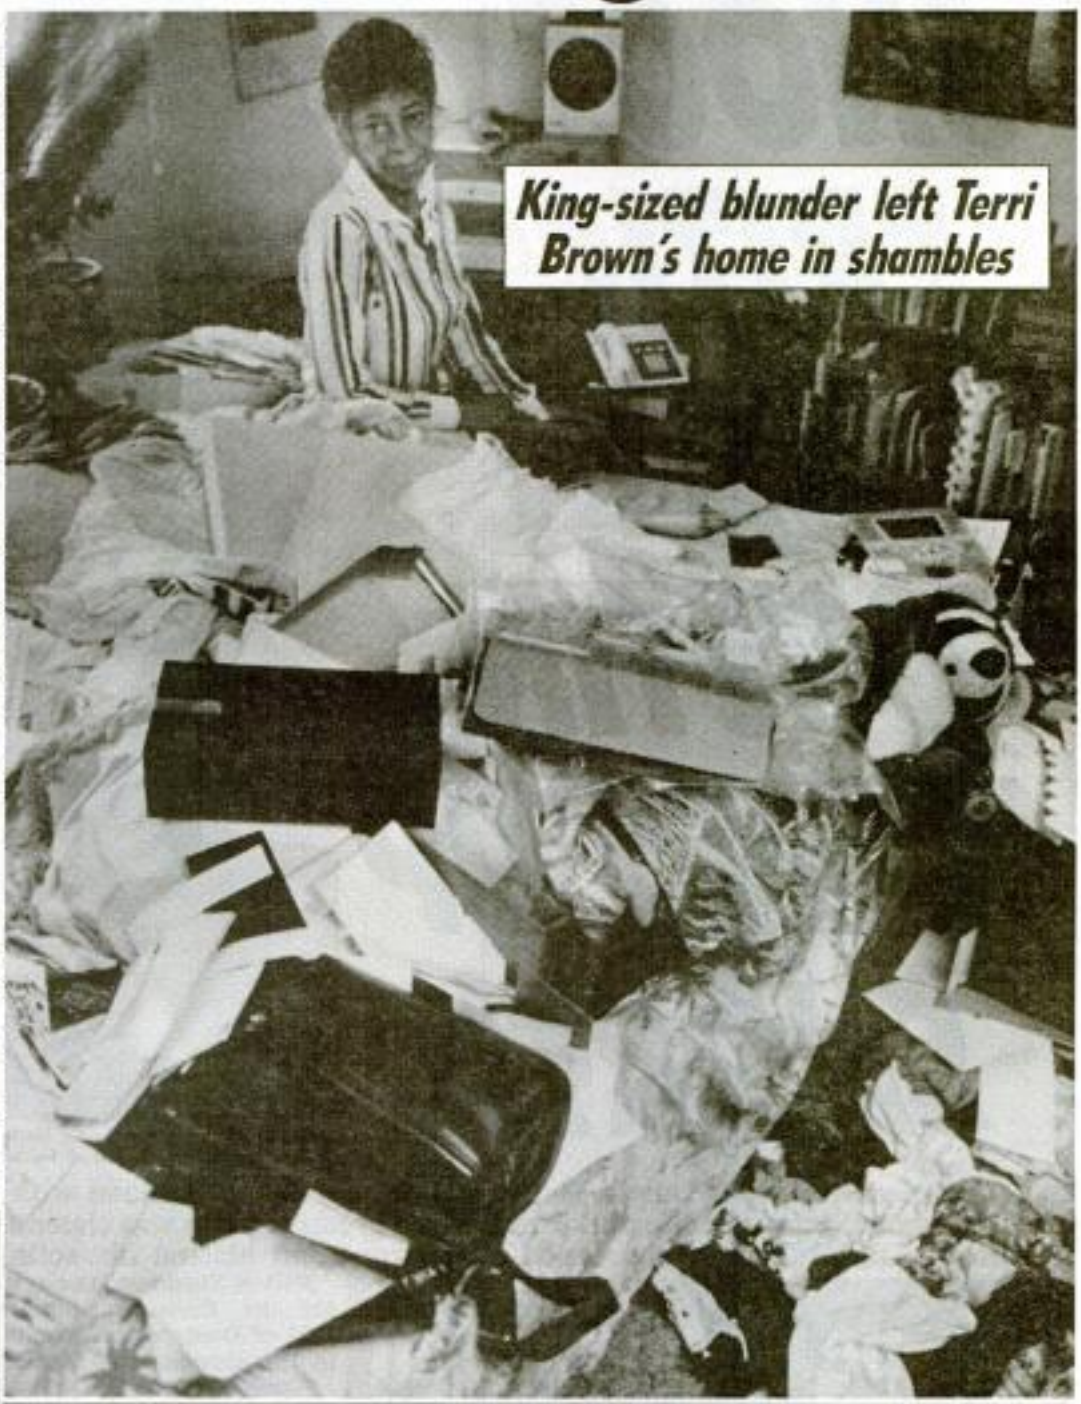
The raiding party left an hour later without finding any drugs.

Mrs. Brown returned home hours later and found her battered front door wide open. "I called police to complain, but since it was a Friday they couldn't help me until Monday," she said.

Embarrassed police have since apologized to Mrs. Brown, who has moved to another neighborhood.

City councilman Joe Serna is trying to get her compensation for the damages.

"It was an honest mistake," said Serna. "But we don't want it to happen again."



King-sized blunder left Terri Brown's home in shambles

Mike's acceptance speech turned out to be a bit crude.

Writer Paul was furious over the entire affair making it clear that Mike's honor was only granted in return for a whopping donation.

Can't rust or corrode. Long lasting!

Now-at-last . . . after arduous research and testing, a team of talented artisans from the Far East has created a Polyphonic 2000 antenna that doesn't just resemble a gigantic, million dollar parabolic dish antenna, but actually pulls in the entire range of TV channels from 2 through 83. Yet this brand-new antenna can easily fit a table-top as small as 1½ square feet—thus making it feasible for use in every house, apartment or office.

INSTALLS IN 1 MINUTE

Attach it to the back of your set with a screwdriver. Then switch on your set. That's all there is to it. As you know, the back side of all TV's is insulated against electricity. Therefore, shocks are impossible. This Far East product also works nicely on all FM radios. Made with tough metals and Space Age Components. Unless you hit it with a sledge hammer, it should last a mighty long time.

REPLACES WORN-OUT OUTDOOR ANTENNAS

Don't junk your old, worthy TV just because of a worn-out, outdoor antenna. All you have to do is attach the dramatic Polyphonic 2000 onto the rear of your TV. Then, when you fine-tune it, notice how your video-audio power rushes in strong and clear. In seconds, your favorite, local programs become so sharp and color-bright, you won't believe your eyes and ears.

RICHER, SHARPER PICTURES

Even old, functioning TV sets perform better with this electronic wonder from the Far East. The difference it makes is incredible. You get better pictures. Stronger sound and brighter color. So it doesn't pay to chuck out your old reliable set. Instead, it makes sense to get rid of that defective antenna and install a guaranteed Polyphonic 2000 that gives you good performance for low cost. You also save up to $200 for a fancy, new outdoor antenna. The decision is up to you.

EXCITING DESIGN AND PERFORMANCE

It delivers the TV waves that give you movies, music, sports, information and worldwide news. And it puts you in control. Now you can fine-tune any channel from 2 to 83, compatible with location and local conditions. Unlike costly rooftop antennas, the Polyphonic 2000 doesn't rust or corrode because it stays indoors—safe from rain, snow, soot or windstorms that may damage

Skin diver shoots his chubby mother-in-law with a spear gun!

By LAUREL BOWIE

Scheming skin diver Karl Beil blew a hole in his meaty mother-in-law with an underwater spear gun — then tried to convince cops he mistook her for a Great White shark!

SHE LOOKED LIKE A GREAT WHITE SHARK, HE TELLS JUDGE

"I saw this big thing coming at me through the water and my eyes played a trick on me," conniving Karl, 31, told a court in Lubeck, West Germany.

"I thought Jaws was out there and I was terrified. I fired to save myself."

But a jury brushed aside the daffy defense and convicted Karl of attempted murder in the shooting of his 280-pound mom-in-law Marlena Zatsch, who suffered a gaping wound in her right side.

"Mrs. Zatsch is a very large woman and doctors say without that cushion of fat to protect her, she might have died," said prosecutor Gerhard Peters.

The stunned plumber was sentenced to 15 years in prison, and his riled-up wife Elke has begun divorce proceedings.

"Karl always hated my mother, but I never dreamed he would actually try to kill her," said angry Elke.

"And to say he did it because he thought she was a shark, that just made it worse."

The bizarre story began when crafty Karl invited Elke and her mom to spend the day boating and skin diving with him on the Baltic Sea 30 miles from their home.

"I was shocked when he asked my mother to come with us, because they always fought like cats and dogs," Elke told reporters.

But less than an hour after they set out in their rented boat, the hard-hearted hubby harpooned massive Marlena, 56, with his spear gun.

"I stayed on board while mom and Karl went diving," Elke recalled. "I was setting out some food and all of a sudden I heard a terrible commotion in the water. Suddenly my mother came to the surface with a spear sticking out of her side.

"While I was helping her into the boat, Karl came up with the spear gun in his hand, babbling that he'd shot mother by mistake.

"He kept apologizing all the way to the hospital, but I knew he didn't mean it. By then I knew what was on his mind."

At the trial, the whopping mother-in-law refuted Karl's story that he mistook her for Jaws.

"He came right up to me and shot me," Marlena told the jury. "Then he swam off, thinking I'd die and never be seen again."

Miracle crucifix saves man from lightning bolt!

Miracle man Philip Blake cheated death when lightning struck the gold crucifix around his neck — branding the sign of the cross into his flesh!

"It's unbelievable that he survived, truly a miracle," said a spokesman for the hospital that treated Blake in Bangor, Wales.

"Somebody up there must be looking after him."

Blake was walking on a mountain when the bolt of lighting, estimated at 30,000 volts, crackled out of a cloudy sky and struck the crucifix around his neck.

The bolt tore off most of his shirt and the right leg of his pants.

Blake remained conscious — and staggered to the base of the mountain, where he collapsed.

Blake's wife, Frances, found him and summoned help. He was hospitalized in Bangor with burns.

"His pants were in a terrible state," clothes were burned and hanging off him. He was burned where the cross was."

Blake himself believes he would be dead today if not for the crucifix.

GAS BLAST SCARS TEEN FOR LIFE!

Excited schoolgirl Margaret Mochan was set to begin the best vacation of her life when a gas leak exploded like a bomb — and turned the terrified teenager into a raging ball of fire!

The holocaust killed two of her aunts and left heartsick Margaret, 17, hideously scarred from her knees to the top of her head. Only stumps remain where her fingers used to be.

"My life and most of my dreams simply went up in flames," the devastated young lady told reporters in Falkirk, Scotland.

"The doctors say I'll never be able to work, never be able to do so many things I want to do.

"Sometimes I get a little depressed."

But after months of almost unbearable pain and countless rounds of skin-graft surgery, the gutsy girl is determined to fight back.

She vows to make the best of the ghastly hand fate has dealt her.

"I'm going to keep smiling and lead as normal a life as I possibly can," she said.

"I may even get married and have children some day.

"I have a lot of wonderful friends who make sure I get out and do fun things. I went through hell, but you can't just sit down and mope or you won't get anywhere."

Scarred Margaret's spine-chilling ordeal began shortly after she and her aunts checked into a lavish vacation villa in Lloret de Mar, Spain.

The happy-go-lucky ladies hadn't even unpacked when gas from a leaky oven exploded, blowing their villa to smithereens.

"All I remember is a terrible blast, and then it seemed like my whole body was on fire," Margaret recalled with a shudder.

"It hurt so bad and there was no way I could put it out."

Bystanders managed to save the tortured teen's life and surgeons have done all they can to rebuild her fire-ravaged face.

But nothing can protect her from the cruel stares and taunts of heartless strangers.

"I know I'm not pretty to look at, but people don't have to gape at me like I'm some

My life went up in flames, says brave burn girl

BEFORE the devastating explosion, Margaret was a pretty teenager who looked forward to life. "It'll be tough but I'm going to keep smiling," the gutsy girl vows.

Margaret told reporters. "I'm not a freak. Underneath all this, I'm the same person I always was."

TRAGIC Margaret Mochan has endured countless rounds of painful skin-graft surgery.

Today's college kids put sex before religion, says new poll

A vast majority of college students say religion is an important part of their lives, but admit they don't let that interfere with their sexual behavior.

Broadcasting Network found that although 80 percent of the students asked said religion is important to them, most believe in premarital sex and living together.

"On the one hand, we were pleased that the majority of tant," said Susan Norman, a senior editor at the network.

"But we were disappointed to see that even though they believe in God, their faith doesn't seem to have much of an effect on their personal lives and habits."

New studies say eating candy makes it easier to give up cigarettes

People who quit smoking tend to pack on the pounds because they develop a sudden craving for sweets, new studies show.

Some researchers believe the sugar in candy bars and other fattening goodies may help relieve the symptoms of nicotine withdrawal.

But docs say we should do our best to dump cigarettes, even if we then have to fight the battle of the bulge.

"The risk of a five-pound or ten-pound weight gain is tiny compared with the risk of continued smoking," said Dr. Ellen Gritz of the University of California at Los Angeles.

Undertaker cheated families

Bodies buried without coffins!

An undertaker who buried dozens of bodies without coffins and piled trash into graves has pleaded guilty to fraud.

Bobby Wilks of Gallatin, Tenn., sold $1,600 coffins to families, then buried their dead in cardboard caskets that quickly disintegrated in the graves.

The body of one stillborn baby was found wrapped only in a plastic bag about 12 inches underground.

Investigators opened more than 30 graves while looking into the scandal. They found trash tossed into some of the graves.

Soviets baffled at bizarre appearance of mystery plane!

WW2 fighter that vanished in 1942 lands in Russia

CAPT. Claus Siegert disappeared over Russia in 1942. Soviets say the pilot's skeleton is his.

. . . with a skeleton at the controls

By HERB TENNANT

A German fighter plane that flew over the Eastern Front in 1942 has just landed at a Soviet airport with a skeleton at the controls — 46 years later!

The BF 109-G plane appears to be in good condition although it reportedly shows "definite signs of aging."

There was no immediate explanation for the vintage warplane's mysterious appearance in Soviet airspace. Russian officials were equally baffled by the skeleton pilot's perfect landing at the Minsk airport on the morning of June 5.

"I don't think it's overstating the case to call this one of the greatest riddles in aviation history," Dr. Armel Kleber, the West German World War 2 military historian, told reporters in Frankfurt.

"The Soviets haven't released everything they know about the plane and pilot. But press dispatches from Moscow indicate that the plane was out of fuel and coasted into the Minsk airport.

"The pilot was identified as Luftwaffe Capt. Claus Siegert, who was listed as missing in action after he failed to return from a mission over the Soviet Union on Dec. 5, 1942. I really don't know what to make of all this. I don't think the Russians do either. All we really know is a warplane that vanished in 1942 has reappeared almost 50 years later."

Soviet authorities were reluctant to divulge more information than was included in sketchy newspaper reports. They did confirm that Capt. Siegert was shot to death while flying the plane.

Judging from the pilot's skeleton and tattered uniform, they estimated that Capt. Siegert was killed at some point during his 1942 mission.

Werner Kalt, the West German physicist, is one of dozens of Western scientists who have offered to assist the Soviets in their investigation of the phantom plane.

He told newsmen there is Capt. Siegert flew into a time warp after he was shot in 1942 — and just flew out.

"It's a compelling notion," said the expert. "If the Russians will allow us to inspect the airplane and what's left of the pilot, we might be able to prove it."

73-year-old man murdered by his 'love slave,' say cops

A woman told police she shot and killed a 73-year-old man because he kept her as his "love slave" in her own home, authorities said.

But prosecutors say Flora Mae Mills, 48, really executed Hardy Edward Young in cold blood in the kitchen.

Miss Mills, who is on trial for first-degree murder, told tired mailman, move into her home as a tenant but he sexually assaulted her a week later.

The night of the shooting, ally assaulted her several times and ordered her to wear various items of lingerie.

After Young assaulted her in the kitchen, Miss Mills said, she got a gun, stood 10 feet away from him, closed her eyes and pulled the trigger as fast as she could.

Police said Young was shot eight times while in a

Waitress wins $790G from bosses who made her walk through sewage!

Waitress Deborah Bailey waded through raw sewage to keep her job — and nearly lost her life.

Now an angry court has ordered her former employers to pay her $790,000 in damages, ruling that the El Cerrito, Calif., mom's health problems began after she was forced by her bosses to walk through filthy toilet overflow to serve her customers.

It was 'wade in filth or be fired,' says woman who got sick and almost died

Mrs. Bailey, 33, claimed in a lawsuit against Foodmaker Inc. that the sewage caused severe staph infections that hospitalized her six times in two years. She was bedridden for months and her health is so poor six years afterward that she can no longer work.

"Thank God this nightmare is over," the pretty divorcee said when the California Court of Appeals ruling was announced. "Money will never compensate me for my health, my life and the way I feel. But at least now I can pay my bills and compensate the people who took care of me for two years."

Mrs. Bailey fell ill in 1983 while working at a restaurant owned by Foodmaker Inc. The restaurant — a place in Emeryville, Calif., called Carlos Murphy's — had trouble with the rest rooms and sewage overflowed into the bar area.

When waitresses complained to management about having to slog through two inches of sewage they were told to keep working or be fired.

For several hours, Mrs. Bailey sloshed through water in which human waste and toilet paper floated. Water splashed up to her knees, but Mrs. Bailey and several other waitresses continued serving customers in a dry section of the restaurant.

About a week later, Mrs. Bailey — who was working to support herself and a 2-year-old daughter — came down with painful sores and a fever. She was hospitalized with a deadly infection and grew so sick that she was no longer able to care for herself or her daughter.

"At the time I felt like I had AIDS," the former waitress recalled. "Nobody would come near me. I lost my friends. I felt like a leper."

After she sent her baby to live with a friend, Mrs. Bailey filed a workers' compensation claim against the restaurant — and got fired. She was evicted from her apartment, she could no longer work and her medical bills mounted steadily. Finally she grew so depressed she attempted suicide.

"I was devastated," recalled Mrs. Bailey. "I felt like my whole lifeline was gone. I just couldn't get past the illness and the devastation of losing everything."

In desperation, Mrs. Bailey sued her former employer and won a whopping $1.5 million judgment. Foodmaker appealed and the damages were reduced — but the courageous waitress will still have enough to pay her debts and return to a normal life.

"To this day, things will never be the way they were before all this happened," she said. "But at least now I can get on with my life."

Sicko caller told women he was doing cancer survey

When a caller posing as an American Cancer Society worker asked her if her breasts were firm or bouncy, an angry woman knew a weirdo was on the line.

The sicko said he was conducting a survey and some of his questions might appear personal, but the answers would be used for breast and cervical cancer research.

He asked the woman's height, weight and breast size. But when he asked if her breasts were firm or bouncy, "that's when I knew he had a dirty mind," she said.

American Cancer Society officials in Pinellas County, Fla., said the caller, who cops say has phoned hundreds of women, doesn't work for them.

Fred Flintstone in hot water for calling Indians savages!

Fred Flintstone has been censored by a TV station that pulled one of the cartoon character's episodes off the air, claiming it portrayed Indians as savages.

Canadian broadcasting officials said they acted after receiving a complaint about the Flintstones episode from a city councilman in Regina.

In the episode Fred Flintstone and his pal Barney Rubble happen onto a movie set where a cowboys and Indians film is being made.

They don't know it is a movie and when chased by the Indians the term savages is used.

CKCK-TV station manager Mel Friesen agreed that about five seconds of dialogue in the episode are racist and said his station will never air the offending episode again.

Birth control implants work for 5 years

Americans may soon be able to purchase a birth-control device capable of preventing pregnancy for five years.

Officials of a Philadelphia drug company called Wyeth-Ayers said the device, called Norplant, could be available in less than six months.

Norplant contains tiny capsules of a hormone similar to those in birth-control pills. The device is implanted under the skin of a woman's upper arm in a brief and nearly painless surgical procedure, experts say.

Norplant has been tested around the world and is now available in 12 countries.

Divorced dads with custody adjust better than moms do

Divorced dads who have custody of their kids seem to adjust better than divorced mothers who have custody, says a shocking new research study.

Sociologists at the University of California at Irvine found that in the first three years after a divorce, women were more likely to feel trapped and bored, stressed by parenting and unable to achieve their goals.

Dads with custody, on the other hand, were much better adjusted psychologically, the study found.

One reason may be that men put more emphasis on their careers, while the women were worried about not being part of a couple, the researchers said.

The study examined 20 divorced fathers and 25 divorced mothers.

Hubby's revenge

A man who blamed his wife for getting him jailed got his revenge by flooding her with mail order items she didn't want!

According to court testimony in Reading, England, John Ager enrolled his wife in five book clubs. He also ordered dozens of record albums, bathroom equipment and expensive but useless bric-a-brac — all in her name.

At least 230 items were delivered to the woman's home in less than six months. Ager, 51, was charged with deception in connection with the incident.

I howled all night after he called me a dog!

Send letters to: Dotti, Weekly World News, 600 S. East Coast Ave., Lantana, Fla. 33462

Dear Dotti: I met this wonderful guy and I'm just crazy about him. Until recently I thought he liked me, too.

I guess we'd been going out together for about six weeks when my best friend told me that Bob, that's not his real name, had been bad-mouthing me to his buddies.

My friend said Bob told his buddies that he was just going out with me because he didn't have anything better, and that as soon as something better came along he'd dump me — fast!

"I won't mind dumping her," he said, "because she's a real dog."

Well, after my friend told me about this I went home and lay on my bed and cried for hours.

I can't believe Bob would talk this way about me to his friends, knowing that I love him so much.

What should I do? Should I try to get him to like me better? I can wear more makeup and get some sexier clothes if you think it will help. I don't want to lose him. — Howling in Houston

Dear Howling: If your best friend is telling the truth, get rid of this bum before he does it to you. If she's lying, she wants Bob for herself. You decide, honey.

2 men want me but I like being alone

Dear Dotti: I left my husband because he had a drinking problem and wouldn't get help. I met another man and soon found out he wasn't what I wanted either.

Now my husband is telling me that he's stopped drinking and wants his family back. My boyfriend has asked me to marry him. Both say they can't live without me.

I don't want to hurt either of them, but as of now I'm content just being with my children.

I must make a decision soon. I'm about ready to toss a coin to decide. What can I do? — Torn in Pittsburgh

Dear Torn: Don't toss that coin. It is probably worth more than the two of them. Tell them both to get lost and get on with your own life.

Fiance is jealous of my modeling

Dear Dotti: After five months of dating, my fiance asked me to marry him. But after some discussion we decided to live together and get to know each other before making a commitment.

Now he's getting cold feet and says he wants to hold off setting a wedding date. He says he doesn't know if he can handle my career.

I've been modeling since I was 11 and next to him it's the most important thing in my life. I have reason to believe that I will be asked to go to Europe on assignment and I'm having a hard time trying to make a decision.

I believe that if he really loved me, he would want me to be happy with what I do for a living. He says that if I loved him enough I would take what he has to offer and be satisfied.

I'm all mixed up and need help. What should I do? — Confused in California

Dear Confused: You may be offered the chance of a lifetime and your whining boyfriend is spoiling the fun. Tell him you'll miss him when you're in Europe.

My hubby keeps wetting the bed

Dear Dotti: I could hardly believe it several months ago when my 26-year-old husband began to wet the bed. Now the problem is getting out of control and practically every morning I wake up to cold, smelly, wet sheets.

Our whole house has started to smell like a dozen cats got locked up in here with no litter box.

He refuses to talk about it and I'm at my wit's end. I just don't think I can take waking up to that awful smell much longer. And I can't talk with my mom or my friends because I'm too embarrassed.

What should I do? — Moist in Milwaukee

Dear Moist: It's obvious that your husband has a medical problem. Demand that he seek help. If he refuses, move to the other room and let him wake up alone to that awful smell.

Make sure he changes his own sheets, too.

Little thief doesn't have any friends

Dear Dotti: My little boy, who is 10, got caught stealing another kid's lunch money at school last month. His father and I punished him and talked to him about it, and the school made him stay late for detention five days. He says he's really sorry and won't do anything like that again.

But now none of the other kids will play with him and he cries all the time about not having any friends. He says he wants to transfer to another school and start over. How can we help? — Worried Mom in Baltimore

Dear Worried: Sounds like your little criminal is getting a valuable lesson. Make him stick it out at school.

TIDDLES the trout.

PANDEMONIUM AT THE AQUARIUM!

Tiddles the trout gobbles up tankful of killer piranha

By JOHN WALSH

Tiddles the hungry trout jumped from his aquarium into another tank — and ate six ferocious piranha alive!

Now staffers at the Tropiquaria aquarium are threatening to put the 8-pound trout on a dinner plate — because piranha cost $20 apiece and were their top tourist attraction!

"That stupid fish ought to pay for what he did," fumed Harry Wiggins, who works at the aquarium in Watchet, England.

"He caused more damage in three minutes than we normally see in a month. He ate six piranha and would have eaten more if we hadn't gotten him out of their tank.

"But what makes me even madder is that Tiddles knows what he did.

"Every time we walk by his tank he swims to a corner and gives us this nasty look, like he's angry at us for taking him out of the piranha tank before he could gobble them all up."

Tropiquaria director Sarah Griffiths was stunned by the trout's behavior.

She also made it clear that he's lucky to be alive after his encounter with the razor-toothed piranha.

"I wouldn't have believed it if I hadn't seen it with my own eyes," said Mrs. Griffiths. "When I saw Tiddles leap three feet into the piranha tank I thought he'd last about 10 seconds — but it was the piranha who were trying to escape from him.

"Normally, piranha are terribly aggressive. Tiddles obviously confused them and caused them to panic. I'm pretty ticked off about it. The piranha are our main attraction and they cost $20 each.

"Tiddles enjoyed an extremely expensive meal."

eties, was most interested in the fact that the piranha didn't gobble up the trout.

"Trout will eat small fish and a large specimen would certainly have all the equipment necessary to tackle something the size of a piranha," he said.

"I have never heard of anything like this before. But then again, I don't suppose trout and piranha often meet."

LOVING dad Dick Sullivan cradles his stricken 150-lb. son John as he carries him down from his daily upstairs bath. The financially-strained family can't afford to build a first floor bathroom, so the stairs — and dad's legs — get a workout.

Heartbroken golfer saves 4 bucks – and loses $15G!

Retired golfer Lewis Wright didn't pay the entry fee to win $15,000 in a hole-in-one contest and guess what? He shot a hole-in-one.

"I'll pay the $4 next time," said Wright of Asheboro, N.C. "I've paid in past years, but in the last couple of years I've had surgery and I haven't been playing well."

Wright made his ace with a 3-wood on the 162-yard par-3 eighth hole at Cypress Golf Club in Little River, S.C.

IN'T HEAVY —HE'S OUR SON'

IN HAPPIER days John Sullivan was a normal, healthy teen whose life was drastically changed when a bolt of lightning struck him during a high school golf tournament in 1985. He spent the next six months in a coma.

Family goes stone broke as it fights to nurse lightning victim back to health!

"He ain't heavy — he's my son!"

That's what devoted dad Dick Sullivan will tell you as he carries his stricken boy to the bathtub . . . to the bedroom . . . to the dining room table.

Dick Sullivan's back hurts. But you'll never hear him complain.

His 21-year-old son was in a coma for six months after he was struck by lightning in 1985 and doctors doubted he'd ever regain consciousness. Today he is mentally alert, able to speak and learning to stand on his own — progress he owes to the amazing devotion of his mom and dad.

Dick and Marcia Sullivan care for John 24 hours a day, bathing him, feeding him and helping him with his therapy. Their faith has given John the courage to fight his paralysis — but it has also meant sacrifices that have brought the family to the brink of financial disaster.

"He has really improved since the accident and he can keep right on improving for years and years," said Dick Sullivan, a farmer in Marlette, Mich., who worries about the more than $2 million in medical bills John has racked up. "Someday he could walk normally and be perfectly all right.

"We have received financial help from my wife's parents and my mother, but now everyone is run-dent — it is too difficult for my wife to care for John, who is 6-foot-4 and weighs over 150 pounds."

John's touching story was first featured in The NEWS in 1986 not long after the boy had been struck during a high school golf tournament. John, then 17, had no pulse and was not breathing when medics arrived after the mishap, but he survived.

A year later, the boy met disaster again when he contracted a rare heart virus and hovered near death for days. To the amazement of his doctors, he recovered without lasting harm and since then he has made steady improvement.

But John must be at home under the care of his family if he is to get better, doctors believe. And the burden of nursing him is enormous.

The family's living room and dining room have been converted to a hospital room, but the Sullivans badly need more room to store John's medical equipment. And they need a downstairs bathroom for the boy so his dad doesn't have to carry John upstairs to bathe him.

"John needs more and more therapy all the time and we have no room in our home to put any more equipment," the boy's father said. "We have been trying to get help to put an addition on our home. There is no insurance to provide for this.

"It's a strain on the family. We're running out of things financially.

"If it weren't for generous people who help us out, I don't know what we'd do."

Recently, townsfolk in Marlette sponsored a golf tournament to help the Sullivan family pay its bills. And a special fund has been set up at Second National Bank, 101 N. Washington in Saginaw, Mich. 48605, for donations.

"Some people might give up, but we never could do that," Sullivan said. "Why would we turn our 66 cats + 1 litter box = a big smelly mess!

After neighbors complained about the stink, health officials entered an unoccupied condo and were shocked to find 66 cats of all ages living in filth and with only one litter box. "I smelled the odor as I came up the stairs," said disgusted Health Inspector James Boor in Jersey City, N.J.

Tailor gives cops perfect description of crook he'd just measured for a suit

Tailor Philip Smith was able to describe a man who robbed his shop with incredible detail — because he told cops he had just measured the punk for a suit!

"We've got a tailor-made description of the guy and now were looking for him," said Police Sgt. James Tivnan in Worcester, Mass.

Smith told police two men walked into his store and one of them wanted to be measured for a suit.

Smith grabbed his tape measure and obliged.

The customer was 5-foot-9, 165 pounds with a 14½-inch neck, 19-inch shoulders, 39-inch chest, 34-inch waist and 41-inch hips.

After Smith, 31, finished measuring the guy, the two men forced him into a back room where he was bound and gagged with duct tape.

The two men ransacked the rear of the shop, taking a camera, a watch and $24 from the cash register, Smith told police.

Smith's description of the second bandit wasn't quite as thorough. He said that crook was about 6-foot-4 and about 275 pounds.

Family claims gas from grain killed woman

A pregnant young woman died from inhaling foul-smelling gases from two stinking grain piles, says a lawsuit filed by her grieving family.

Renee Oland died in 1987 from an accumulation of fluid in her lungs, according to the suit filed against the owner of the huge grain piles.

The victim lived in Lidgerwood, N. Dakota, less than 200 yards from the grain piles maintained by Harvest States Cooperative of St. Paul, Minn., said the suit.

The company began piling the grain outside when its elevator was filled, according to the lawsuit.

He wanted to be skinny — so he would look taller!

Boy starves to death — on a lettuce diet!

By SUSAN JIMISON

Tragic teenager Dean McCann went on a lettuce diet to lose weight — and starved himself to death!

After a year, teen had wasted away to 61 pounds!

The 16-year-old dropped to just 61 pounds after a year of refusing to eat anything but plain lettuce. The 5-foot-7 soccer player was convinced he looked taller when he was slim, friends say.

"He told us he felt fine, but we could see he was slowly fading away," said one schoolboy pal, who did not give his name. "He said he was too short and that with less weight on his frame, he looked inches taller.

"I honestly think that he thought his diet made him better looking, but it didn't.

"It made him look like a ghastly living scarecrow."

Tragic Dean, who lived in Maidenhead, England, got the idea for his bizarre salad fast following an illness. He stayed out of school for a few weeks and when he returned, teachers and friends told him he looked like he had grown.

The schoolboy got it into his head that he looked taller because he had lost weight during his illness — and began his drastic diet right away.

"We knew what was going on because we'd see him in the showers and we could see how skinny he had gotten," the school pal said.

"Whenever we had our school checkups, Dean would hide weights inside of his clothes when he stood on the scales."

Incredibly, Dean became so obsessed with his diet that he refused to eat anything with his lettuce — not even dressing, lemon juice or salt for flavor. His only drink was water, friends said.

He died while under treatment for starvation and was buried in his soccer uniform.

Kid loses deadly game to a train

A teenager was killed and his friend critically injured when they played a deadly game of chicken with an oncoming freight train.

Canadian officials said 17-year-old Patrick Jansuzin, who lived in a Toronto suburb, died when he and his friend stood on opposite sides of a set of railroad tracks to see which of them could stand closest to a passing train without flinching.

Jansuzin's friend, Karl Staudinger, 22, was hospitalized in critical condition.

Beat cancer with orange peels and strawberries

Eating foods like orange peel, strawberries and hot peppers can keep you cancer free, say exciting new studies from the National Cancer Institute.

Orange peel contains substances called terpenes shown to put tumors in regression in lab tests, reports Redbook magazine.

Strawberries, pears, cashews, raspberries and Brazil nuts may stop carcinogens from causing genetic damage to cells.

And researchers say hot peppers contain a substance that may cut the risk of colon cancer.

Immigrant races across U.S. to get to his citizenship ceremony

Marcus Dimagio raced 3,000 miles by plane, bus, taxi and foot to get from Massachusetts to California in time to become a U.S. citizen!

"He was shivering, almost in tears and looking very exhausted when he got to the courthouse to be sworn in," Eeve Lewis, Sonoma County Clerk, told newsmen in Santa Rosa, Calif.

"He was about a half-hour late and the others had already been sworn in."

But Superior Court Judge William Bettinelli refused to let Dimagio's determination go unrewarded. He personally administered the oath of citizenship to the immigrant from Chile.

The drama began when Dimagio applied for citizenship while he was living in Sonoma County.

Before a date for his naturalization was set, he moved to Massachusetts.

However, notice of the citizenship ceremony's date was mailed to his old Santa Rosa address.

And by the time it was forwarded to his new address in Massachusetts, he had less than 24 hours to get back to California.

He took a day off from work and flew from Boston to San Francisco. He hopped a bus to Santa Rosa, took a taxi to the courthouse — and ran into court.

Stolen money blows up in man's pocket

A 54-year-old man on his way to work found a bag of money in the street and stuffed it in his trousers — but he didn't know it would burn a hole in his pocket.

The money had been abandoned earlier by a bank robber when he discovered it contained an exploding packet of red dye.

Tellers put the dye in the bag with the loot to help track down the robber.

But the unsuspecting man who found the abandoned bag didn't even bother to count it as he boarded a bus in Baltimore, Md.

A few minutes later, he felt something explode and saw red smoke pouring from his pants.

Someone saw the smoke and notified a nearby bank. Police were called and found the man sitting on a curb with his pants off, nursing a burned right thigh.

Cops determined the man wasn't involved in the robbery. The bank robber is still being sought.

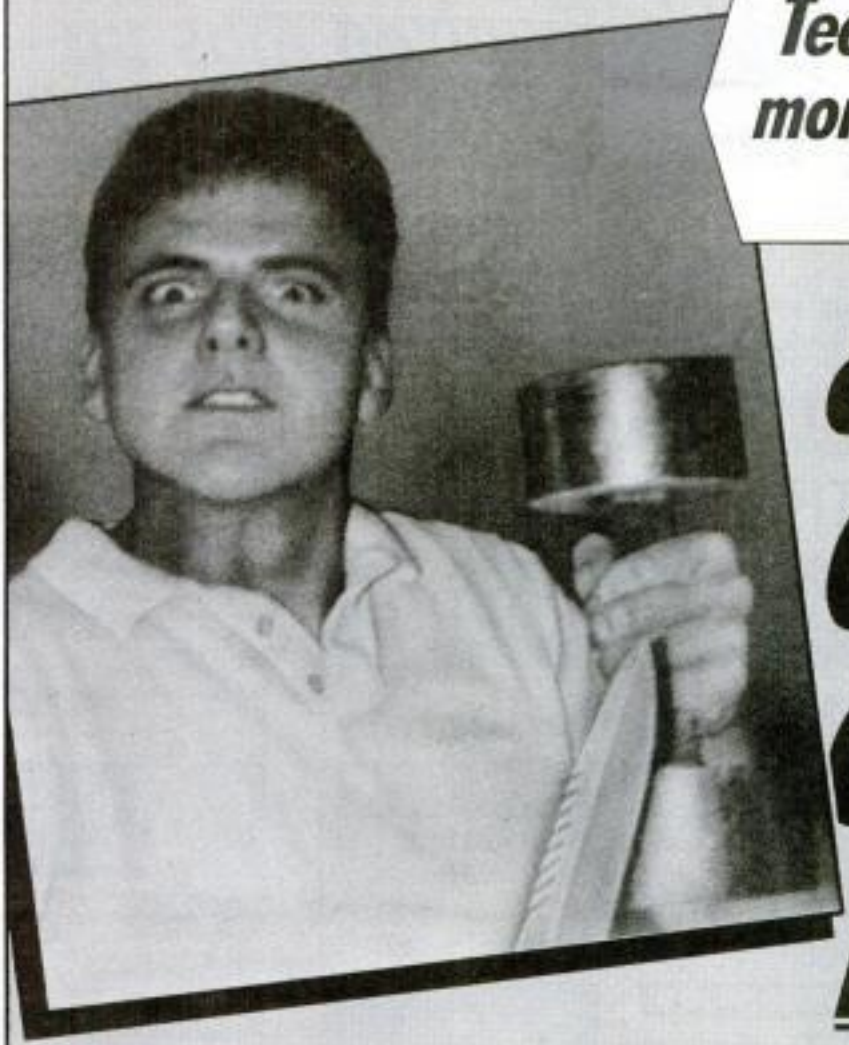
Teen ignored worried mom's warnings about THIS man . . .

& IT COST GIRL HER LIFE!



DAUGHTER Cheryl Kelly

BY PETE COOKE

Cheryl Kelly ignored her mother's warnings not to get involved with a strange young man she worked with — and it cost her her life.

"There was something about him," said Dolores Kelly of Chelsea, Mass. "I told my daughter to be careful. We all told her. But she loved him. They were supposedly engaged."

Mrs. Kelly last saw her 19-year-old daughter alive in April 1988, when she left on a camping trip with her boyfriend, Scott McLean, 24.

Chelsea Police Captain Thomas Keating said authorities were guided to the burial site by McLean's confession.

"McLean walked into a police station in Bend, Oreg., where he has relatives, and confessed to killing Cheryl Kelly," Capt. Keating said. "He told the police there that he strangled her and buried her in Chelsea."

McLean is being held on $75,000 bond by Oregon authorities and will be brought back to Massachusetts to face murder charges, said Capt. Keating.

Mrs. Kelly said her daughter met McLean when both worked at Nancy Sales Co., a novelty manufacturer in Chelsea. The anguished mom said she'd warned Cheryl about going out with McLean, but her daughter wouldn't listen.

After Cheryl's disappearance Mrs. Kelly lived in limbo, not knowing what had and fearing the worst. Then McLean confessed.

"I don't have an answer for what happened to her," Mrs. Kelly said. "I can't understand it. I can't put it all together. I've tried figuring out what happened, what went wrong. I always knew he did something to my daughter. I couldn't put my finger on it."

Cops admitted they were initially baffled by the case that began when Cheryl failed to return from the camping trip with her boyfriend.

"It was like she dropped off the face of the earth," said Detective Sgt. Frank Garvin.

At the time McLean told investigating cops that he and Cheryl never went camping, but drove to Boston instead. He claimed Cheryl wandered away while he wasn't looking and he never saw her again.

"He was a suspect from day one," said Chelsea Police Sgt. Jack Urbaczewski.

But the case remained open until McLean told cops he

Support groups help cancer patients live twice as long

Cancer patients who join support groups live twice as long as patients who rely on medical care alone!

That's the surprising conclusion from researchers at Stanford University and the University of California at Berkeley.

In a 10-year study of cancer patients, the experts found that those who received medical treatment plus one year of weekly group therapy lived an average of 36.6 months.

Those who received medical treatment alone lived an average of 18.9 months, the researchers said.

Grave-robbing weirdo digs up bones of baby who died in 1878

By JACK ALEXANDER

A baby who died in the last century was allowed to rest in peace for 111 years until a sick-minded weirdo dug up her bones and carted them away.

Cops believe ghoulish devil worshipers may have wanted the remains of 4-month-old Lucy Cotton, who died in 1878, for their stupid Satanic rituals.

"Who else would do such a thing?" said Wolfeboro, N.H., Police Chief Stanley Stevens.

Cemetery Sexton Rufus Bly was making his spring inspection of the Cotton family graveyard when he saw a freshly dug pile of dirt beside a 4-foot hole.

Two rotting casket handles were discovered near the dirt, but there was no coffin and no body in the open grave.

Bly thinks the grave robbery was cult-related, but he doubts the creeps got very much except a few bones.

"They were probably after a skull, which is always the last thing to erode with time, but I don't even think they found that," said Bly.

Chief Stevens knows of no devil cults around tiny Wolfeboro, "but we could have some pranksters who wanted the baby's bones for a little mumbo-jumbo.

"I doubt if we'll ever solve the case unless whomever did it brags about it," said Chief Stevens. "We haven't a clue as to who did it."

'A Fish Called Wanda' tickled his funnybone — & stopped his heart!

By DAVID MILLER

A doctor literally laughed himself to death in a crowded theater!

The death of Dr. Ole Bentzen, 56, of Copenhagen, Denmark, was the top story in this month's issue of the prestigious Danish medical journal, Medicine Today.

ACTOR John Cleese.

The magazine quoted witnesses as saying that Dr. Bentzen got tickled and began to laugh uproariously while watching British actor John Cleese in the smash flick, A Fish Called Wanda.

Dr. Bentzen was actually slapping his thighs when he began to cough and gasp — and fell over dead.

"His heart rate must have increased to at least four times its normal rate," Dr. Flemming Bistrup told the magazine. "As his personal physician, I can assure you that he was in good health.

"But the fit of laughter obviously pushed him over the brink. His heart couldn't stand the strain."

Einer Randel, a medical assistant, was with Dr. Bentzen when he died. He said that the doctor was normally quite reserved.

"I was shocked to hear him break out laughing like that," said Randel. "I said, 'Doc, get a hold on yourself. The movie isn't that funny.'

"The next thing I knew he was dead."

BIG-BUCKS MASSAGE FOR THE SUPER RICH USES REAL GOLD

If you want your skin to have a golden glow, go out and buy a bit of gold — and massage your body with it.

Gold massages are a big hit with the filthy rich Japanese, who pay up to $230 an hour for a full-body rubdown.

"It stimulates blood circulation much more than any other massage cream and eventually makes the skin shine more than regular cream massages," said a Japanese beautician.

As long as the gold is pure, no skin problems should result, said a dermatology specialist.

Man shot — for singing in bed!

By PETE COOKE

A woman got so mad at her husband for singing in bed she picked up a gun and shot him in the stomach, say cops.

Authorities in Baton Rouge, La., said the trouble started when 23-year-old Frederick Ross hopped into bed with his wife Sheral and their little boy, flipped on the radio and started singing.

Captain Carson Bueto of the sheriff's office said Mrs. Ross asked her husband to knock it off several times, but when he kept on singing she picked up her son and started to leave the bedroom.

"Mrs. Ross said that she and her husband then got into a fight," Capt. Bueto said.

"She says that when she tried to leave the room he grabbed her and pulled her back in.

"During the scuffle she picked up a revolver and shot him in the stomach in self-defense."

Ross was rushed to Our Lady of the Lake Hospital where he was listed in stable condition.

Mrs. Ross, who is also 23, was booked for attempted second-degree murder.

Thief calls in false alarm, robs firehouse

A crafty thief sent firemen racing out on a false alarm — so he could waltz in and steal the station's microwave oven while they were away!

"It looks like we were set up," Pittsburgh, Pa., Fire Captain Martin Devine said when he discovered the theft.

Fire fighters had responded to a report of a house fire called in on the city's 911 emergency line. Cops later traced the call to a pay phone near the station.

Zookeeper wants their scalp!

Creeps beat gentle petting zoo sheep to death in park

By JACK ALEXANDER

A fighting mad zookeeper says the cruel creeps who brutally bludgeoned and skinned a lovable little sheep "don't deserve to smell the grass or see the sun shine."

"Lock 'em up and throw away the key. They are totally sick," said Donna Fumei, who had fed and cared for the slaughtered sheep for 4½ years at Tradewinds Park in Coconut Creek, Fla.

Cops believe at least two people slipped into the park's petting zoo under cover of darkness, beat the animal senseless and carted it away.

Heartbroken Miss Fumei discovered the sheep's bloody stall when she came to work the next morning. "We knew something awful had happened because of the blood," she said.

Cops got a break in the case two days later from an anonymous caller. "They found what was left of the poor thing buried in the woods across the street," said Miss Fumei.

"It's brutal. I feel bad. This was a little animal that kids petted and knew," said Police Det. Carl Diblasi.

"I hope they throw the book at the culprits. What they did was intolerable and hateful. I don't believe they can be rehabilitated. Their minds are all screwed up.

"Maybe a little jail time will bring them back to their senses."

Two boys, ages 14 and 15, have been arrested and are charged with grand theft, burglary and cruelty to animals.

ZOOKEEPER Donna Fumei is outraged by senseless killing.

Jailed preacher phones in sermon

About 25 parishioners were in church when the Rev. Joseph Davis preached his Sunday sermon by phone — from a jail cell.

The preacher was jailed after cops accused him of drug trafficking.

The church members, who heard the sermon over loudspeakers, said they will stand by Rev. Davis.

Accidental Discovery May End Obesity

Blocks calorie absorption

SWEDEN—Medical researchers at the University of Kuopio, in Finland, have discovered (accidentally) a new weight-loss formula. The new discovery enables an overweight individual to lose pounds and fatty tissue without dieting or exercise.

Scientists made the discovery while searching for a formula to lower cholesterol. In a controlled study of a test group of people, cholesterol levels remained unchanged but the doctors were astounded to find that every patient who used the formula lost weight. The published report of this study stated, "A highly significant decrease in body weight was seen" in patients who received the formula.

The formula was then tested in Sweden at Sahlgren Hospital, University of Goteborg. Again, all patients lost a substantial amount of weight even though they did not change their eating habits. The report detailing this study, published in the British Journal of Nutrition, stated: "Body weight was significantly reduced even though the patients were specifically asked not to alter their dietary habits." One patient in this study lost more than 30 pounds.

According to one informed source, the active ingredient comes from a 100% natural botanical source and contains no drugs or stimulants. When taken before mealtime it bonds with the food you eat and "ties up" calories, preventing their absorption.

A substantial portion of the calories ingested therefore pass through the digestive system unabsorbed. The body has to get energy to replace the lost calories, so it starts to burn stored fat. The result is rapid body weight loss. Extensive clinical tests have verified the safety of this formula for long-term use.

The formula is marketed in tablet form in the United States under the trade name Cal-Ban 3000. A firm located in Tampa, Florida, has exclusive North American distribution rights. A review of the customer files of this company revealed the names of hundreds of people who have lost up to 10 pounds the first week and as much as 20, 40 or 60 or more pounds overall with Cal-Ban 3000. This is a golden opportunity for people who are plagued by fat and cellulite that they can't seem to lose by conventional methods.

Cal-Ban 3000 is reasonably priced at $19.95 for a 3-week supply and $38.95 for a 6-week supply. Postage and handling is $3. To assure fastest service, orders are accepted by toll-free phone only. VISA, Master Card, Amex and C.O.D. orders are accepted. C.O.D.'s are $2.00 extra. Orders may be placed by calling Anderson Pharmacals TOLL-FREE 1-800-228-3131. Canadian orders call 1-800-231-4700. During this special phone order promotion purchasers of a six-week supply of Cal-Ban 3000 will receive, absolutely free, a beautiful 24" double strand necklace of sparkling Chinese Faux pearls.

Old lady's body chopped up like pieces of stew meat — and individually wrapped

Treasure hunter makes grisly find at dump

By JOE BERGER

An unsuspecting treasure hunter rummaging through a smelly garbage dump made the grisliest find of his life — the ears, nose, one eyeball, some fingers, toes and other bits and pieces of a murdered old woman!

Shocked cops said the 20 bloody chunks of flesh were individually wrapped in tiny pieces of aluminum foil. "This has got to be one of the most bizarre cases we've ever had," said Lt. David Adair of the Broken Arrow, Okla., police department.

"Somebody went to a lot of trouble to make sure this body was tough to identify. It's got everybody's head spinning."

Baffled lawmen combed the area on foot and horseback in search of more body parts but found none. "We've been checking missing persons here locally and around the country, but we still don't know who the woman is," Lt. Adair said. "And we still don't know how she died."

The ill-fated lady was elderly, had brown eyes, brown to gray-brown hair and pierced ears, said a spokesman for the medical examiner's office.

Spokesman Dave Highbarger said no bones were found, making identification doubly difficult.

"This is all tissue," he said. "This is about all we can come up with unless someone can find more parts."

Fingerprints were taken from hunks of flesh the culprit sliced from the woman's hands, Lt. Adair said.

"But even they don't do us any good until we have something to match them to," he said.

In the 60's Roy headlined soldout concert tours with both the Beatles and the Rolling Stones, topping the charts with classics such as "Oh, Pretty Woman," "Crying," "Dream Baby," "In Dreams" and "It's Over."

In the 80's, many major recording artists including Linda Ronstadt, Van Halen and Don McClean have enjoyed great success re-recording some of his biggest hits. His recent success as part of The Travelling Wilburys is rapidly gaining Roy yet another generation of fans throughout the world, demonstrating anew how his unique vocal stylings will never lose their appeal.

Hypnotist rapes 80 in trance

A devious Dutch hypnotist raped 80 women after putting them to sleep in his bogus medical practice!

Leo Vechta, 54, attacked the women after they answered advertisements that offered a cure for anxiety through hypnotism.

Vechta told a court in Amsterdam that he made love to the women only because "inwardly, they were looking for love."

He was found guilty and sentenced to 18 months in prison for having sex "with persons deprived of willpower."

Kids get high on LSD-like substance on creature's skin!

Toad licking poses threat to youth of America

HOPHEADS have found a new high — licking the skin of this ugly critter!

By DANIEL PRESLEY

Untold thousands of American hopheads are risking their sanity and lives by licking ugly bufo toads to get high!

Mind-bending practice is illegal — and deadly!

The slimy creatures secrete a mind-altering chemical through their skins to ward off predators.

And the substance, like mescaline and LSD, is hallucinogenic.

It has been on the federal Drug Enforcement Administration's list of contraband substances since 1970. But more and more people — especially teenagers and young adults — are licking toads in a looney tunes bid to expand their minds.

"It's amazing the lengths to which people will go to get high," said Dr. Alex Stalcup, head of the drug treatment program at the Haight Ashbury Free Clinic in San Francisco.

Because the substance secreted by the toads is listed as a contraband, he added, "if you tried to lick this toad it would be a felonious act."

The substance secreted by the toads is called bufotinine. In small quantities it can cause disorientation, and hallucinations and other sensory reactions. In larger doses, it is poisonous — and can be deadly.

"It is named in the same category as heroin and LSD," said Robert Sager, head of the DEA's western regional laboratory in San Francisco.

"It has abuse potential and no known medical uses. It's a felony to possess it."

Toad licking is a relatively new development for kids in the United States. But it has been practiced in Australia and South America for years.

In addition to licking the toads, druggies eat toad skins and brew them into a tea. It has been reported that four Australians died after drinking toad-skin tea last year.

Hoppy's happy now

Hoppy, a baby kangaroo that was rejected by its mother at a safari park in England, has found a real pal in 3-year-old Christopher Lawrence. Chris' dad, a park warden, took in the abandoned Hoppy and Chris helps care for the 2-month-old critter.

Mother-in-law on wife-beater's side

A convicted wife-beater about to be sentenced got a plea for leniency from an unexpected source — his mother-in-law!

"I don't think he deserves a jail sentence. He deserves a medal," she told a District Court judge in Auckland, New Zealand. "He has literally been put through hell."

The mother-in-law said her daughter had driven her 36-year-old husband to extremes

Lottery winner goes sailing — & loses $15G overboard!

Somewhere in the Strait of Juan de Fuca, there's a moneybelt containing $15,000 in cash — and the owner says anyone who finds it can keep it!

The cash was among the valuables that went down when Richard Nye's pleasure boat sank in May about three miles off Sooke on southern Vancouver Island in Canada.

Nye, who hit a big Lotto jackpot two years ago, tossed the moneybelt into his dinghy as he escaped the sinking boat.

But the dinghy was swamped and the money was lost in the cold waters of the strait between Vancouver Island and Washington state's Olympic Peninsula.

Student in gorilla mask held up store to get prom money, say cops

By DICK DONOVAN

Cops say a high school senior donned a gorilla mask, armed himself with a knife, then held up a convenience store — to get extra money for his prom!

But 18-year-old Bradley Cleeton soon found he had to face the music when his own parents turned him over to Vigo County sheriff's detectives in Terre Haute, Ind.

Bradley's parents noticed he was acting strange and the description of the robber's gorilla mask sounded familiar.

So they hustled Bradley down to the Sheriff's Office where the errant teen soon confessed to the crime, cops said.

Dectective Jake Compton said Bradley's mom and dad had reason to believe their son was involved in the holdup and decided to have him questioned.

Police said they recovered about $400 of the several hundred dollars taken in the holdup.

They said they also have the clothing, knife and the gorilla mask allegedly used by Bradley, who was released on $75,000 bond.

They All Laughed When I Said I Was Going To Start My Own Business

My wife said I didn't know what I was doing . . . my friends were skeptical . . . and my neighbors thought I was wasting my time.

Yet I was determined to make it in a business of my own. Sure I wanted the extra cash coming in. But money wasn't the only reason. I simply dreaded the idea of spending the rest of my life working for someone else. . . in a job I really didn't like.

So I said the heck with everyone else and started out in my spare time - right from a corner in the basement. I chose Mail Order because I heard you could begin without experience or too much capital.

As you'll see below, it wasn't long before I I realized I'd made the right choice.

Cash by Mail

My initial investment was under $50. In less than three years, I'd quit my job and was taking in up to $5,000 A DAY . . . MORE THAN $500,000 A YEAR!

On some days, the cash and checks poured in so fast, my wife and I had to use a CARDBOARD BOX to carry everything to the bank.

By this time, my wife had already forgotten her original doubts about Mail Order and was telling everyone she knew I was right all along. But best of all, I threw a party for those skeptical friends and neighbors at my new home - the one with the big pool in the backyard.

But this was only the beginning. I branched out and started five more mail order firms. I sold everything - from gifts to plant food. Before I knew it, I'd become a millionaire and a respected mail order authority.

Then I began publishing articles about Mail Order . . . next I wrote a monthly magazine column and finally . . . I created Mail Order Associates, Inc.

$100,000

Yes, Mail Order is certainly a fabulous business! Come up with a "hot" new item or idea . . . and Wham!

It strikes like a bolt of lightning!

Suddenly you are flooded with cash orders from all over the country . . . MORE MONEY than you could ever make in a lifetime!

Like the Vermont dealer who ran one ad in Sports Afield Magazine. His ad pulled 22,000 orders - over A HALF MILLION DOLLARS IN CASH!

There is no other business where you can make a fortune so quickly!

A beginner from Newark, N.J. ran his first small ad in House Beautiful - offering an auto clothes rack. Business Week reported that his ad brought in $5,000 in orders. By the end of his first year in Mail Order, he had grossed over $100,000!

Another beginner - a lawyer from the midwest, sold an idea by mail to fishermen. Specialty Salesman Magazine reveals, "He made

It's a fascinating business! Running ads in newspapers and magazines . . . mailing gift catalogs . . . getting cash orders in your daily mail - steady as clockwork.

There is no other business where you can start out on a shoestring and pyramid your profits - without investing in merchandise! One husband and wife mail order team took in $40,000 selling a single item. They obtained FREE ads in national magazines - didn't invest a cent in merchandise, and even got the supplier to ship all orders for them!

Proof

These exceptional cases represent just a few of the hundreds of beginners who have made a "killing" in mail order. This is absolute proof of what can be done and what is being done - by beginners just like yourself.

G.M. Turk

Want further proof? Pick up any magazine. Notice how the same mail order ads appear month after month? That's concrete proof. You know those ads wouldn't be repeated over and over again - unless they were bringing in big cash profits to their owners.

The Secret

The secret of getting rich in Mail Order lies in financial leverage. It's a little-known, almost secret method - using other people's capital to make money for you!

You can get thousands of dollars worth of advertising in big national magazines - without investing your own money! And you don't have to write a single ad. Tested and proven ads are prepared for you by experts. Reinvest the profits from your first successful ad - to get more, larger ads, and the profits begin to snowball!

You mail out beautiful catalogs which offer hundreds of dollars worth of quality gifts - yet you don't invest one cent of your own money in merchandise! Your catalogs are printed with your name and address, so all orders come to you. Everything is "drop-shipped" for you, and there's up to 100% mark-up! You pocket the cash profits immediately - even before the orders are

HE-SHE'S an expert when it comes to raising a family. Toni Hamilton-Smith is shown here with her children Melanie (left), Gemma Louise and Jay.

By SUSAN JIMISON

Transsexual Toni Hamilton-Smith has a head start on most parents — because she is both a mother and a father to her kids!

The 34-year-old Beaufort, Wales, housewife is a single divorcee with three children, so her bizarre background comes in handy. She can identify with her son Jay, 13, by remembering her own experiences as a teenaged boy. And she can commiserate with her daughters Melanie, 8, and Gemma Louise, 5, because she's a gal too, now.

Father who became a mother rocks world when she wins custody of her children!

"I'm both a mom and a dad to my kids," said the 6-foot-1 former bricklayer, who recently made headlines when she gained sole custody of her three children. "I know both sides of the coin.

"I can understand my son's situation because I've been through it. And I'm beginning to understand what being a female is all about. When my girls get older, I'll be able to identify with them, too."

In fact, Toni's situation is so unique that she's able to offer advice on raising kids that combines the expertise of both male and female parents.

Here are her tips for raising happy children, no matter what sex you are — or were!

● Give children continuity: Make sure they have a regular schedule, that they know what to expect out of life.

● Give kids love: No child can grow strong without it. And don't just love them from a distance — tell them about your feelings as well.

● Physical welfare is essential: Kids have to be well fed, decently clothed and decently housed. As a parent, I pride myself that I give my children good meals and look after their health and fitness.

● Discipline: Children need to know what is right and what is wrong. I don't smack my kids. I punish them in ways that matter more, like taking away their spending money or restricting their activities. I'm firm and consistent and I always explain to them what they've done wrong so that they understand why they're being punished.

● Make a habit of talking to them: Silence is unbearable in a strong family. Children need to have excellent communication with their parents, to discuss their feelings and their troubles whenever they are upset.

"I'm not a perfect parent," confessed Toni, whose book Step Into My Life will soon reach America. "As a single parent I'm under enormous pressure, and as a transsexual there's even more stress to cope with.

"But my kids know as much as they can know about my transsexuality and they accept it.

"My children are my mainstay. Without them I'd crumble. I'm so glad they live with me. Sometimes I cry myself to sleep at night just thinking how lucky we all are."

Tire thief makes bizarre apology, say cops

The man who allegedly stole a tire off Billy Robinson's car in Dallas added insult to injury when he told cops: "I tried to pick the worst-looking car to take the tire from!"

Quintana was charged with theft after witnesses claimed to have seen him take a tire and rim off Robinson's 1979 Dodge.

According to cops, Quintana apologized for taking the tire and even offered to pay for it. He also criticized the looks of Robin-

Fake beeper can get you off the hook fast

Bored silly and looking for a fast exit? Then you may be in the market for the latest in getaway gadgetry — the fake beeper.

Just flip the switch on your Timely Beeper and 30 seconds later a red light flashes and the beeping begins. That gives you a chance to rush away to answer an important call — a call that, of course, never came. Inventor Eugene Grant said he was inspired to create the bogus beeper while sitting in church, waiting for the service to end so he could go out fishing. Suddenly a beeper sounded and a member of the congregation slipped out to make a call — while Grant remained stuck in church.

Omega Contract Design of Sunset Beach, Calif., says it's sold 17,000 of the fake beepers at $29.95 a pop.

Midday sun is a cancer threat to kids, experts say

Children should avoid the sun between 10 a.m. and 3 p.m. and always wear sunscreen to reduce their risk of getting skin cancer, a federal advisory panel reports.

"We are particularly concerned about children because they are most vulnerable to the long-term effects of ultraviolet radiation," said Dr. David Bickers.

Dr. Bickers is chairman of the Department of Dermatology at Case Western Reserve University in Cleveland and panel chairman.

"Reducing exposure during the early years of life may significantly reduce the effects that appear in adulthood, such as skin cancer, sagging, wrinkles, leathery texture and blotchy discoloration."

The panel recommended that schools, camps, day-care centers and other facilities reschedule outdoor activities to keep kids out of the sun when it is brightest — and most dangerous — which is usually between 10 a.m. and 3 p.m.

The panel also advised that sunscreens with a factor of 15 or higher be used regularly — even by children younger than 2.

"There are no healthy tans," a panel member, Lawrence Schachner, Professor of Pediatrics and Dermatology at the University of Miami School of Medicine, said.

German tour bus kills POW who survived Nazis

. . . they finally got him, says the WW2 hero's daughter

By JOE BERGER

Heroic airman Alan Simpson survived three years of torture and terror in a grimy German prisoner-of-war camp, then was run over and killed — by a German tour bus.

The bus packed with vacationers mowed down the unsuspecting veteran in a crosswalk as he headed for a reunion of his POW buddies.

"It took 40 years but they finally got him," his disconsolate daughter Catherine told reporters in Upton Leonard, England.

"He took all the punishment they could dish out during World War 2 and came home full of life. Now they've nailed him with a bus.

"It really hurts to think of Dad dying there in the streets after he managed to survive all the horrors of war."

The daring airman was captured by the Nazis in 1942 after his plane was shot down off the coast of Sicily.

He spent the rest of the war in a hellhole POW camp, where he was starved, tortured and tossed in isolation for months at a time because he refused to knuckle under to his cruel captors.

"Alan was our inspirational leader," recalled former infantryman Daniel Toon, who spent two years imprisoned with him.

When the war was over, the brave airman returned home, married and raised three children.

But he never forgot the cruelties heaped on him by the Nazis.

"He always hated the Germans for what they did to him," said daughter Catherine.

And in the end, it was the Germans who did him in.

Alan, 67, was crossing a London street when a bus that had brought a load of tourists from West Germany plowed into him, killing him instantly.

"He was coming to our reunion," Toon said. "It's ironic."

Gal tries to settle dress feud with gun — & misses

Two fussy women argued for days over who was better dressed at a wedding until one tried to settle the feud with a gun — but missed with both shots.

"They were extremely jealous of each other and the dress thing just would not go away," said Wayne Shelor, a Clearwater, Fla., police spokesman.

The women, who weren't identified, attended a friend's wedding "and made fun of each other's outfit all during the reception," said Officer Shelor.

"They made snide remarks every time they would see each other for three days," he said. "It was ridiculous but got real serious."

One of the women was standing on a street corner with friends when the other one walked up and fired a couple of shots.

"Fortunately, no one was hurt," reported Officer Shelor.

The hot-tempered assailant fled in a 1989 Dodge and hasn't been seen since. Police later arrested Marvin Johnson, 30, and charged him with attempted murder. Cops said he supplied the woman with the gun and helped her escape.

Johnson denied knowing who fired the shots.

Shocked officials nab kindergarten kids in class — with bag of cocaine

Shocked New York City school officials quickly scheduled anti-drug lectures — after kindergartners were found with a bag of cocaine.

The trio of 5-year-olds were playing with the bag of the drug in their classroom. Authorities said the dope apparently was brought to school by one of the children, but it was unclear where the youngster got it.

"She showed it to her friends," said Howard Lubkin, director of personnel for the school district. "The bag was opened. Some spilled on her desk and some spilled on the floor.

"Out of the innocence of children, the two friends, possibly emulating adults, started to put it near their noses. Whether they sniffed it or not we don't know."

The little girl who brought the cocaine to school was turned over to child welfare officials.

Mom jailed for keeping her baby in car trunk!

A troubled mother was sentenced to four years in prison — for putting her 9-month-old son in a suitcase and leaving him in the trunk of her car!

Portia Murray, 22, of Indianapolis, Ind., was originally charged with attempted murder. The charge was reduced after mental health experts determined she didn't intend to hurt the baby.

She said she put her baby in the suitcase, then put it in the trunk of her car because she couldn't find a baby-sitter. The child survived.

Thief stole cash from 9,000 letters — to buy drugs

Crooked mailman rips off donations sent to Jimmy Swaggart!

By JACK ALEXANDER

Thousands of dollars in donations meant for shamed TV preacher Jimmy Swaggart went up the nose of a drug-crazed mailman with a $100-a-day cocaine habit.

Postal officials estimated Kerry Davies, 32, stole cash from 9,000 letters mailed to Swaggart's Canadian headquarters in Niagara Falls, Ontario, last year.

"Mr. Davies could have pocketed as much as $45,000 to $100,000. We just have no idea," said a postal inspector who worked on the case.

The money was sent by followers of Swaggart, whose TV ministry was nearly destroyed a year ago by revelations he met with a prostitute in a motel room.

Postal inspectors investigated after Swaggart's office in Niagara Falls said contributions had dropped drastically between January and September of 1988.

"We found opened letters from Swaggart followers in Davies' car trunk, his house and in his locker at the post office," said the inspector.

Davies, the married father of three kids, admitted the theft and was fired from the job he'd held for 14 years.

"The man had a serious cocaine habit," said the postal inspector. "He told us he spent about $100 a day on coke."

The thieving family man was found guilty and released on bail pending a pre-sentence investigation. During that period he underwent drug treatment and found another job.

"It is refreshing to see someone get up off the floor when they're down and attempt to make a future for themselves and their family," said Judge Donald Wallace. He sentenced Davies to three months in jail.

DRUG-CRAZED postal worker swiped thousands of dollars from donations mailed to preacher Jimmy Swaggart.

Swimming helps your sex life, say experts

If you're over 40 and want to keep your sex drive sizzling, take up swimming.

That's the fascinating advice of Harvard University researchers Phillip Whitten and Elizabeth Whiteside, who say regular swimming seems to keep the middle-aged and the elderly more sexually active.

They recommend 45 minutes of swimming three days a week for middle-aged men and women.

But don't overdo it. Swimming more than 18 hours a week seems to diminish sexual activity, the researchers say.

New Doctors Discovery

Weight Loss Pill Approved for U.S. Gov't. Patent

'Lazy Way' to Lose Weight Already Sweeping U.S.

BEVERLY HILLS, CA (Special) — An amazing new weight loss pill called "fat-magnet" has recently been developed and perfected by two prominent doctors at a world famous hospital in Los Angeles that reportedly "guarantees" you steady fat loss and calorie reduction by simply taking their tested and proven new pill.

The U.S. government has just approved the doctors claims for a hard-to-get patent that confirms "there has never been anything like their fat-bonding pill process before." It is a totally new major scientific breakthrough and is revolutionizing the weight loss industry.

You Can "Eat Normally"

Best of all, "you can continue to eat your favorite foods and you don't have to change your normal eating habits. You can start losing fat and reduce calories from the very first day, until you achieve the ideal weight you desire without exercising".

Flushes Fat Out of Body

The new pill is appropriately called the "fat-magnet" pill because it breaks into thousands of particles, each acting like a tiny magnet, "attracting" and trapping many times its size in undigested fat particles. Then, all the trapped fat and calories are naturally "flushed" right out of your body because they cannot be absorbed.

Within 2 days you should notice a change in the color of your stool, caused by the fat particles being eliminated.

"Automatically" Lose Fat

According to one of the inventors, Dr. William Shell, heart specialist and associate professor of medicine at UCLA medical school, "the new fat-bonding process is a "lazy way" to lose weight because the pills alone "automatically" reduce calories by eliminating dietary fat. It is 100% safe and not a drug."

The fat-magnet pills are already sweeping the country with glowing reports of weight loss from formerly overweight people in all walks of life who are now slimmer, trimmer and more attractive again.

Now Available to the Public

If you are trying to lose 20, 50, 100 pounds or more, you can order your supply of these "no-risk" highly successful fat-magnet pills directly from the doctors' exclusive manufacturer only (includes optional calorie-reduction plan for even better results). Send $20 for a 90 pill supply (+$3 handling), or $35 for a 180 pill supply (+$3 handling), to: Fat-Magnet, 9006 Wilshire Blvd., Dept. WX77, Beverly Hills, CA 90211. GIANT HOROSCOPE

By Countess Sophia Sabak

ARIES

Mar. 21-Apr. 19

Love, love, love is always on your mind — but never in your life, it seems. Cheer up, your stars indicate that romance is just ahead for you, and it's going to be a long-lasting, wonderful relationship.

Meanwhile, though, things are definitely going to be tough on the job this week. You need to buckle down and produce until the heat is over.

Little worries that have been causing anxiety will disappear in the next day or two.

TAURUS

Apr. 20-May 20

Watch it — you've got an enemy who's planning to harm you and this is someone you trust. Do not reveal your private thoughts this week and do not confide in anyone. Stay mum and the danger will pass.

A special pleasure is in store for you in the next few days, something that will delight you.

Time to cut down on your spending and make moves to save for the future.

You'll soon have excellent opportunities to earn extra dough.

GEMINI

May 21-June 20

Believe it or not, your "Dream Love" really does exist. Better get yourself ready for an exciting jolt out of the blue. Your love's about to pop into your life!

You made a big hit with a certain someone at the office party. Now you have to find a way to cool things down. On the other hand . . .

Resolve now to keep the weekend open for whatever comes along that's new and different. It's a bore seeing the same old faces in the same old places.

CANCER

June 21-July 22

You're feeling good regardless of the weather and you go out of your way to help a friend. Your spirits are so high you reject rejection, and soar even higher.

A heavy work schedule doesn't sap your energy or vigor.

Keep working for a promotion without whining or wheedling for a raise.

Get in touch with an old flame and watch new sparks fly. Love the second time around can be even better than it was the first time.

LEO

July 23-Aug. 22

Things to avoid this week: spicy foods, fast driving and loud colors. In fact, stay away from these killers all year 'round. They're all grade A menaces.

Keep a sharp eye out for summer sales that make this month one to splurge in. Shopping can be a great cure for the blues. A small windfall brings cheer.

If you're not in love yet, take heart. Your time will come. You can afford to be patient when it concerns the love of your life.

VIRGO

Aug. 23-Sept. 22

Beware! A smooth-talking crony has cooked up a scheme that reeks of danger, and this week they do their darnedest to involve you.

You're tempted to go along out of loyalty and a yen for adventure, but that could lead to disaster. Tell them to take a flying leap.

Your favorite song holds the key to a better life. Listen closely to the tune you've been humming.

LIBRA

Sept. 23-Oct. 22

A romantic night out is what you need to get a rocky relationship back on track. Pull out all the stops and have a time you will long remember.

A fantastic money-making opportunity is coming your way and you ought to be prepared to pounce on it. Seek out advice if you must, but don't waste any time or you'll miss the boat.

Now is an excellent time to settle a family dispute that has been dragging on for too long.

SCORPIO

Oct. 23-Nov. 21

A surprise visit from an old friend brings drastic changes in your plans. Keep your schedule flexible in order to cope with the unexpected.

You have been neglecting an important project that needs your immediate attention.

Stop spinning your wheels and get to work right now or you will be sorry later.

Go out of your way to be extra friendly to neighbors in the week ahead in order to avoid conflicts.

SAGITTARIUS

Nov. 22-Dec. 21

You're getting played for a sucker in a personal relationship and it's high time you realize it. You give more than you get. You're paying a big price for companionship.

Your diligence and initiative at work will pay off soon in big dividends. The boss is considering you for a position of importance that will put more money in your pockets.

Don't be too eager to give your trust without finding out if a person deserves it.

CAPRICORN

Dec. 22-Jan. 19

Your generosity has not been forgotten by an old friend. You will be rewarded in a special way for a past kindness.

A special someone is anxious to meet you, but doesn't know the proper approach. This could be the week they overcome their hesitancy and satisfies their curiosity about you.

You've been feeling very good lately.

Find the time to relax and think of yourself.

If your birthday is this week . . .

Romance and adventure are two big events that will highlight the year ahead. But it's vital that you keep your senses fine tuned to recognize the signs. Your finances, too, are earmarked for an upswing.

On the other side of the coin, your growing dissatisfaction with your career will only worsen unless you take steps to make changes. The year ahead is brimming with successes. They are yours for the taking.

The months ahead will see new doors opened to you if you can maintain the high goals you have set for yourself.

AQUARIUS

Jan. 20-Feb. 18

Wake up, it's time to roll. With a little ingenuity and a lot of hard work, you could make your wildest dream come true this week — so go for it! A dear friend stands ready and willing to provide necessary support if you'll only ask for it.

Grab the brass ring now, before it slips away forever.

Someone you seldom see loves you very much. Take time to show him or her that the feeling is mutual.

Be extra careful when commuting.

PISCES

Feb. 19-Mar. 20

Your energy level is sky high, making this an ideal time to set goals and start working to achieve them. Avoid a pessimist who would crimp your style.

A chance meeting with an influential person could set the stage for a long and happy relationship. Don't let their status and reputation intimidate you. Speak your mind!

You are on an even keel financially and that isn't going to change anytime soon. Salt away any extra cash that comes your way.

Stupid thief tries to rob 76-year-old ex-cop — and is shot dead!

A retired cop never fired a shot during 26 years on the force, but when a crook broke into his house he grabbed his gun and killed him.

"I sure feel bad for his folks but there was nothing else I could do," said Earle Wolthausen, 76, a retired police sergeant in Long Beach, Calif.

The elderly ex-cop tried to pin the burglar to the floor, but the punk kicked and screamed and fought back.

"I was getting weaker and he was getting stronger," said Wolthausen, who yelled for his wife to get his gun. "I thought I might be able to hold the gun on him until police came."

But the much younger burglar knocked the gun out of his hand and they grappled for it. "I thought if he gets the gun, we're gone," said Wolthausen.

"So with my last bit of strength, I pulled the gun away from his hand, and it went off. I felt him slump down, and I never even knew where I hit him until after the coroner came."

Police didn't identify the dead man, who was shot in the head.

A bellyful of dope

A suspected drug smuggler was in critical condition after doctors operated — and removed 49 packets of heroin from his stomach and intestines.

Chicago police said the native of Nigeria apparently swallowed the 550 grams of dope in his native country to transport it to America.

Bummed-out GI waits for his alarm to go off — then commits suicide

A disgraced soldier facing court-martial set his alarm clock, then sat for four hours with the muzzle of a gun in his mouth until the alarm went off and he pulled the trigger.

The bizarre suicide of Private Shane Coles occurred in Tidworth, England, the day before the British soldier was to plead guilty to a charge of counterfeiting checks.

Officers said Coles, 23, locked himself in a room in his barracks at 11 a.m., set the alarm clock on his wristwatch for 3 p.m. and waited for the alarm to go off.

Friends said Coles, who was dressed in full uniform, told them that 3 p.m. "was as good a time as any" to die.

"He expressed his absolute intention to die at 3 p.m.," said Lt. Colonel Tim Glass, Coles' commanding officer. "When the alarm clock went off he bent his head forward and pulled the trigger."

"I have had enough of this life," Coles told an officer before killing himself with an assault rifle. "The next one will be better."

Will I die in the electric chair on my 33rd birthday?

Ask the Countess

Countess Sophia Sabak offers NEWS readers personal advice based on your horoscope. For answers to brief questions about your future, include your date of birth. Address letters to Countess Sophia Sabak, Weekly World News, 600 S. East Coast Ave., Lantana, Fla. 33462.

Dear Countess Sabak: I was born Aug. 12, 1960, and I've got a real problem which involves a dream I have about three times a week.

In the dream I'm in a prison cell and I glance at the watch on my wrist and it says 6:57 a.m. Then, about two minutes later, three prison guards and a priest come into my cell and say, "It's time, Johnny boy."

The dream, which I've had maybe 50 or 60 times, never varies. I'm taken to a bare room where there is an electric chair and I'm strapped in. I scream, but no sound comes out of my mouth.

Then one of the guards says, "It's Aug. 12, 1993. Happy birthday, Johnny boy."

The guard puts a black hood over my head and seconds later I feel electricity go through my body. Just about then I wake up and try to scream, but I can't.

If I'd only had this dream once or even twice, I'd never have written to you. But to have it this often scares me, and I'm not easily scared.

What does it mean, Countess? Am I destined to die in the electric chair? Will the date of my execution be on my 33rd birthday in 1993? Please answer. The life you save might be mine. — Shocked in Shreveport

Dear Shocked: I've studied your star chart to 1993 and beyond — and I see you living a full and long life. Recurring dreams like yours usually mean a deep-seated psychological problem stemming from a childhood incident.

Study your past, especially an incident relating to electricity. Once you put that out of your mind, the dream will be gone, I promise you.

Dear Countess Sabak: My birth date is 5/22/37. Please tell me what 1989 holds for me.

The man I've lived with since 1983 says he loves me but doesn't want to marry me. I want more — a home, happiness and money.

Will I meet a new love and get married any time soon?

Will I be able to sell the wood cut-outs I've been working on? I've spent all winter painting ducks and other things.

Thanks in advance for any advice you can give me. — M.W. in Michigan

Dear M.W.: When the full moon enters Gemini next month, illuminating the shadowy corners, you will be able to see clearly, sort out your confused thoughts and make some positive decisions about your romantic future.

I also have a feeling that you're about to launch a successful little business selling your hobby/craft products.

Dear Countess Sabak: I would like to know what you see in my future and if I will be poor forever.

Perhaps I am too old to ask this question. I was born Oct. 3, 1901. — A.W. in Puyallup, Wash.

Dear A.W.: Scanning your chart, I see the outlook is mainly a sunny one, with no really dark clouds on the horizon. Your financial situation will not change, but true happiness is found in the company of your family and friends.

Cherish their companionship, for therein lies the rich and rewarding life you are looking for.

Dear Countess Sabak: Although my husband left me for another woman six years ago, I still have nightly dreams that he will come back to me. Also, during the past six years, I have been seeing a man I love. Now he is leaving me for another woman.

I am desperately unhappy at this point in my life, not only because I am alone but because the job I've held for nine years is coming to an end.

I would like to know if there is a chance that either of these men will return to me.

If so, will we be happy like everyone else? Is there any good news in my future? I was born 11/14/47. — I.H. in Flushing, N.Y.

Dear I.H.: Socialize as much as you can during the next few weeks, for a person who has some of the answers you're looking for will be introduced to you.

Also, at that time, Uranus enters Scorpio, bringing a surge of self-confidence and aggressive power which will enable you to find a new job and put these romantic problems behind you.

Are You "Different?"

Are you one who is known, in the language of mysticism, as a "Seeker?"

Do you think it possible that space people once visited Earth? And perhaps built the pyramids of antiquity?

Do you believe in the Ancient Wisdom taught as secret doctrines only to the initiates of the Mystery Schools of long ago? Did you know there is a Mystery School in existence today? There is. It's called Astara.

By taking just a moment to read this carefully, you can quickly tell if you are the special kind of person who benefits from the teachings of Astara. If you are such a person, the rewards may very well be lifelong.

If you are the unique person who benefits from Astara, you...

• Think for yourself. You want the privilege to accept or reject any teaching you may receive.

• You are an adventurous seeker. You don't mind going beyond the conventional to more advanced ideas.

• You want to grow in spiritual understanding. You want to feel (and, if possible, experience) in yourself what the great sages and seers of all time have known.

• You are interested in Ancient Wisdom teachings, spiritual healing, ESP, eastern and western philosophy (as opposed to dogmatic churchianity).

Do you qualify? Do you fulfill these characteristics? If so, you will want to know more about Astara, the organization which, for more than 30 years, has been helping other special seekers like you reach for the stars within yourself.

It costs nothing to learn whether or not you and Astara can cooperate to fulfill every potential you possess for self-growth and self-realization. A booklet, Finding Your Place in the Golden Age, explains it to you. It's yours for the asking. No obligation.

GAL DROPS DEAD FROM PRAYING!

By JACK ALEXANDER

God-fearing Jeanette Devine lived her young life for the Lord and was so emotional about it at a church service that she prayed herself to death.

Coroner Vern McCarty said the religious young woman dropped dead from stress cardiomyopathy, an incredibly rare heart ailment.

"It's most common in folk literature as a person who dies of a broken heart or is frightened to death," said McCarty.

Miss Devine, 29, was attending a night service at Faith Deliverance Church of God in Reno, Nev., when she met her maker.

"She became the center of attention among the congregation at a particularly long prayer session," said Police Lt. Ron Galeoto.

Miss Devine was asking God to coax the Devil from her body when she collapsed after jumping up, shouting and falling forward, witnesses told cops.

The stunned crowd, which had been clapping, singing and lifting their hands in prayer as Miss Devine prayed, thought she had merely fainted.

But she wasn't breathing when paramedics arrived at the church. She was pronounced dead shortly after arrival at Washoe Medical Center. Authorities were stunned by the case.

"It's a strange case, to say the least," said Lt. Galeoto. "She prayed so hard, it killed her."

It's a strange case, say cops

Poor lady leaves note for would-be thieves

A poor woman whose house had been broken into many times put a sign on the door telling robbers there is nothing left to steal.

"Notice to thieves: 8 robberies — nothing left," reads the sign on the front door of Helen Ferris' house in Fort Lauderdale, Fla.

"If they can read, they'll know they will be wasting their time," sighed the frustrated homeowner.

Cash-In on Government Give-Away Programs

(Special) A new book written by a former Federal investigator tells how every American can collect their share of the $250 billion that will be handed out this year by Uncle Sam. The book explains how to collect: social security before retirement, small business loans, income supplements, education benefits, farm loans, unemployment, job training, even welfare and food stamps. Here are just a few facts covered:

- How 37 million Americans, averaging around age 30, collect monthly social security checks.
- How to make the entire family eligible for social security, even your youngest child.
- How you may be cheating yourself out of social security benefits.
- How almost 3 million children get monthly social security checks.
- How to qualify for disability pensions (over 3.5 million people collecting but thousands more eligible).
- How to work and still collect social security.
- How to find out how much you have paid into Social Security.
- How to know when to quit work and start collecting social security.
- How to get a lump sum payment.
- How to get a $500,000 loan to start your own business. (It's simple and the book tells you exactly how to do it).
- How to collect a $250,000 loan to buy a farm or ranch, including livestock and equipment.
- How to collect a $27,000 loan for a mobile home, including lot.
- How to collect a $15,000 loan for home improvements.
- How to collect over $600 a month to attend college, trade school or get on-the-job training.
- How to get free medical coverage, including eye glasses and dental care.
- How to get a good-paying Federal job.
- How to collect hundreds of dollars a month to pay your apartment rent, including utilities.
- How to get up to a $100,000 small business loan, even if you are poor and unemployed.
- How to obtain thousands of dollars in free Federal services.

With the help of this book, many families are now leading a more comfortable existence.

Although the book "How To Collect Big Dollars From Uncle Sam" could mean thousands of dollars to you, it is being offered at only $12.95 (plus $1 post. & hldg).

2,000-year-old

EMPEROR Nero of Rome (left inset) delighted in seeing Christians torn to pieces by lions. Terrifying sounds of roaring big cats and screaming victims were recently heard coming from the 2,000-year-old Colosseum.

MOM RISKS JAIL TO HAVE BABY!

MOM Debra Forster

Child abuse mom Debra Forster was ordered to use birth control by an angry judge — but months later she was pregnant again, risking jail to have another baby.

The 19-year-old Phoenix, Ariz., woman had faced 20 years in the slammer for leaving her two small sons on their own for an entire weekend. The little boys — 6 months and 18 months of age — nearly died after three days in her sweltering apartment, but both recovered completely.

In June 1988, Judge Lind- say Ellis sentenced Debra to probation and made her promise to use birth control if she was released from jail. Months later, the fertile teen was pregnant again.

"She was legally married and the birth control order was impossible to enforce," explained Debra's probation officer, Laura Scott. "She gave birth to the new baby in April 1989, but it was taken from her custody.

"Debra is immature. It's a case of children having children. Debra needs a mother more than she needs a kid."

Debra, who has had four babies since she married her husband William, 28, at the age of 15, is trying to get her life together, Miss Scott said.

She has a part-time job and is back in school, trying to earn her high school diploma. Her children have been adopted or placed in foster care because Judge Ellis ordered her not to have the care or custody of any minor children, Miss Scott said.

"I talked to her about birth control, but she had high blood pressure and couldn't take the pill," Miss Scott said.

"After her baby was born the judge lifted the birth control portion of her sentence because it was unenforceable. It was a controversial sentence anyway," she said.

ghosts haunt Roman Colosseum!

POPE John Paul II

By MEL VAN HOY

Hundreds of people claim o have been awakened in he middle of the night by he blood-curdling screams f men and roar of lions in he Roman Colosseum!

Citizens were so shaken by he incident that they actually etitioned Pope John Paul II to ray at the 2,000-year-old sta- ium where thousands of Chris- ians were thrown to the lions in he 1st century A.D.

"We don't know what to make of ," Police Captain Marion Caretti told ewsmen. "The screams and roars sted almost five minutes beginning t 12:37 a.m. on June 5.

"Hundreds of people were awakened nd most of them were terrified. It's pos- ible that the sounds were the work of a rankster with a big tape player and peakers.

"But we have no proof of that. It's urely speculation."

In fact, people who heard the ghostly oises as far as 20 blocks away said cops re out of their minds if they think prankster was responsible for the creams.

"There isn't a stereo on Earth that ould reproduce sound like that," Dino izzo, who lives seven blocks rom the crumbling stadium, old newsmen.

"The roars of the lions were ibrating in my chest. The creams were blood curdling. They were definitely made by real men."

Franco R. Tramballi, the Italian acoustics expert, has taken a personal interest in the case.

After speaking to more than two dozen witnesses, Tramballi is convinced that the screams were those of Christians who were thrown to the lions by Roman persecutors like the emperor Nero 1,900 years ago.

"Sounds made by people and animals during times of extreme trauma and stress have been known to be heard hundreds and even thousands of years later," said the expert.

"This is a phenomenon that's quite common on battlefields the world over.

"It is quite possible that the screams of Christians and the roars of the lions who ate them are trapped in the Colosseum, possibly for all time."

Pope John Paul has not responded to the request for him to pray at the Colosseum. But one Vatican source said the holy father is taking the ghostly happenings "quite seriously."

Father Gian Soluri of Rome says that is as it should be.

"There isn't a doubt in my mind. Those screams were the sounds of Christians who were martyred in the Colosseum almost 2,000 years ago," he said.

Sounds of hungry lions feeding on screaming Christians terrify city!

THOUSANDS of Christians died for their beliefs at the claws — and jaws — of hungry lions, nearly 2,000 years ago in Rome's Colosseum.
